43 Redistricting Units Dissolved

Lancaster Among Those Failing To Submit Comprehensive Plan

The State School Reorganization Committee reported Wednesday it has ordered the dissolution of 43 county school redistricting committees in Nebraska.

The county groups are being dissolved for failure to submit to the state committee a comprehensive plan for school district reorganization within the county.

Under state law, those plans were due in the hands of the state committee by Sept. 15 this year.

The state committee ordered county superintendents in the 43 counties to set wheels in motion for the election of new county committees as provided.

The Counties

Counties whose committees are dissolved include Arthur, Burt, Dundy, Garfield, Keya Paha, Morrill, Saunders, Wheeler, Blaine Cheyenne, Deuel, Hall, Kimball, Nance, Sherman, Boone, Colfax, Fillmore, Harlan, Lancaster, Nuckolls, Sioux, Box Butte, Cuming, Franklin, Hitchcock, Lincoln, Otoe, Stanton, Boyd, Custer, Gage, Howard, Loup, Polk, Thomas, Buffalo, Dawes, Garden, Keith, Merrick, Rock and Thurston.

The state committee's action grew out of a meeting Wednesday.

Four counties—Cass, Pawnee, Pierce and Platte—were granted more time to prepare the county-wide comprehensive plans.

Further information and evidence of comprehensive plans being prepared were asked of Brown, Saline, Butler, Sheridan, Dawson, Thayer, Holt, Washington, Logan and Phelps counties.

Further information on the status of comprehensive reorganization was asked of Chase, Hamilton, Kearney and York counties.

Comprehensive reorganization plans were studied and held for further study and further information in the case of Adams, Furnas, Madison, Valley, Antelope, Gosper, McPherson, Webster, Clay, Grant, Perkins, Dakota, Greeley, Red Willow, Dodge, Hayes, Scotts Bluff, Douglas and Johnson.

The state committee approved a redistricting proposal presented by the Knox county committee and involving Districts 73, 76, 80, 118, 122, 123, 124, 132, 134, 135, 158 and 159 in Knox County, and districts 62, 80 and 92 in Cedar County.

The reorganized district would have a total enrollment of 350 pupils and assessed valuation of $5,909,370. Wausa would be the school center.

Motives For Dissolution Questioned

Glenn Turner, Lancaster county superintendent, Wednesday night questioned the motives behind dissolution of the county redistricting committees only a month before the state law requires new elections for the groups.

Deferring comment on his plans, Turner said that under the law, superintendents are charged with the duty of forming another committee, and if they fail to act, the state committee has the power to do so.

Turner said that work on the Lancaster county committee included authorizing a survey of the county schools in 1956, and holding a meeting in Malcolm last spring to discuss the situtions in northeast Lancaster and southern Seward counties. No action came from the meeting, he said.

He added that illness of several committee members and death of one member may have caused the failure to submit the required comprehensive plan.

Pleven Effort Loses

French Look Again For Premier

PARIS (AP) — Rene Pleven Wednesday night abandoned his attempt to form the next French government.

He made the announcement in a surpjrise visit to President Rene Coty.

Pleven gave up about 36 hours after the President had entrusted him with the mission of being 24th post-war premier of France.

He had said he would not form a minority government and insisted on a broad majority including all parties in Parliament except the extreme right and left wings.

Pleven said he told the President he had renounced his mission "because of the negative answer one of the parties gave me."

The Radical-Socialists, party of caretaker Premier Maurice Bourges-Manoury, refused to support his program.

Convinced

But Pleven said he is convinced that his plan for a one-year political truce to guarantee stability for the government will be retained by whoever succeeds him.

Pleven's decision threw the French political crisis back where it started nine days ago.

Andre le Troquer, speaker of the National Assembly, and Gaston Monnerville, Negro speaker of the Council of the Republic, upper house of Parliament, hurried to confer with Coty.

Sources close to the Elysee Palace said the President did not know which way to turn.

Surprise

The decision of the Radical-Socialists, who are really conservatives, surprised everyone. They had been considered certain among the parties on which Pleven could count.

Most observers felt that it was too soon for Coty to call in again Socialist leader Guy Mollet, who refused Sunday to go ahead with forming a government. There was some mention of Robert Schuman, 72-year-old ex-Premier and foreign minister, who belongs to the Catholic Popular Republicans (MRP).

Rogers Tract Recreation Area Plans To Go Before Council

. . . Lincoln Park Board Recommends Adoption

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Site plans for development of the Rogers Tract at 33rd and O as a park and recreational area were recommended Wednesdy by the City Park and Recreation Board for approval by the City Council.

The advisory board, headed by Thomas C. Woods, urged approval of the site plans for the 50-acre tract and its development as soon as possible.

Safety Director Emmett Junge said the plans, prepared by Clark and Enersen, architects and site planners, would be submitted Monday to the Council.

Development plans include a baseball-softball playing field, picnic areas, swimming pool, tennis courts, recreational building and a decorative lake for model sailboats and ice skating.

Junge said the plans would be made public at the Council meeting.

The plans were "frozen" in late 1955 when the locating of the Community Hospital on the Rogers Tract was proposed in connection with the unsuccessful 1956 bond issue. The defeated $4.8 million hospital issue included $300,000 for development of recreational facilities in alternate plans drawn for the area.

In previous years the Rogers Tract had been proposed as a site for the City Auditorium and for a footboll stadium for the Lincoln public schools.

$2,000 In Park Budget

Junge said the current park budget includes $2,000 for development of the Rogers Tract.

However, he noted, that Clark and Enerson were commissioned in 1955 to draw the site plans at a stipulated fee of $1,500.

If the plans are approved by the Council, Park Supt. Jim Ager said seeding, tree planting, and some grading could begin immediately.

Initial development could also include grading for a temporary softball field for use in the spring, but other facilities represent capital outlay items, according to Junge.

Could Be 'Finest'

City officials have indicated that development of the Rogers Tract could make it "the finest park in the city."

Junge said he had no estimate of development costs, but noted that $300,000 to $350,000 have been cited in connection with alternate plans developed with the Community Hospital proposal.

The original plans to be submitted to the Council earmark the tract for development only as a park and recreational area.

The tract was purchased in 1947 from Mrs. Margaret H. Rogers for $65,000 with money made available by the Woods Charitable Fund.

AF Plane Crashes

Two Believed Dead Near Council Bluffs

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Two airmen were believed killed in the crash of an Air Force T-33 jet trainer southeast of Council Bluffs Wednesday night while making an instrument approach to Offutt Air Force Base south of Omaha.

One body was recovered from the wreckage but it was reported that two men had been in the plane.

The crash occurred about 10 miles east of the Offutt base which is across the Missouri River.

An Offutt spokesman said the plane was from Laughlin Air Force Base, Del Rio, Texas.

The plane fell on the Harvey Voss farm about three miles north of Silver City. Voss said he saw the plane heading south, then turn north when it suddenly burst into flames and fell.

Council Bluffs policemen and state highway patrolmen went to the scene. They reported finding one body in the wreckage and evidence that the body of a second man was strewn about the crash scene.

Air Force sources said the cause of the accident was not immediately known.

Identities of the flier or fliers were not known.

TEMPS TO BE SOME HIGHER

Slightly warmer temperatures were predicted for Nebraska Thursday with highs to reach 52 to 62.

Frost was forecast for low-lying areas early Thursday morning as the Lincoln temperature dipped to 45 in the pre-dawn hours.

Wednesday's high readings ranged from 50 at the Lincoln airport to 43 at Sidney. North Platte, Imperial, Sidney, Alliance, Scottsbluff and McCook all reported light drizzle Wednesday and some fog.

The five-day forecast indicated a warming trend continuing through Sunday, with readings three to five degrees above seasonal normals. Normal highs are around 70.

COUNCIL MAY CONSIDER BETHANY LIBRARY FUNDS

A Bethany citizens' proposal to provide matching funds for a new Bethany Library building may be presented to the City Council at its regular Oct. 27 meeting.

The proposal, as outlined by Robert Staples, chairman of the Bethany Fund Drive committee, would seek a commitment from the Council to provide matching dollars for the proposed $40,000 building.

The Library Board, according to its president, Mrs. David Dow, could contribute about $8,000 and the new site for the Bethany Library.

The rest would be raised on a matching basis by Bethany citizens and the City Council.

'Greatest Need'

Mrs. Dow said the "greatest need in the Lincoln library system is for a new building for the Bethany Branch."

The present building at 1551 No. Cotner is a former bank building and unsuitable for expansion or even current needs, according to Mrs. Dow.

The Library Board, under current plans, would acquire three lots with 150-foot frontage across the street from the present building to provide building and parking space.

The proposed Bethany Library building would be approximately 26,000 square feet and similar to the South Branch Library constructed at 27th and South.

Staples said the Bethany group, after a series of meetings, were optimistic about raising $15,000 to $20,000 for the building.

"The success of the drive," Staples said, "would depend on whether matching funds could be provided by the city."

Staples and Mrs. Dow met Thursday afternoon with Mayor Bennett Martin and Councilmen Hugh Thorne and D. L. Tyrrell.

City officials indicated no funds were available in the present budget, but an amount could be earmarked in the 1958-50 budget if the Council favorably considered the Bethany proposal.

City funds for a new Bethany Library was asked in the 1957-58 library budget, but the $36,000 building request was axed in the 10 per cent trimming of the general budget.

Missile Law Urged In U.N.

Lodge Will Lead Debate On West Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States stressed Wednesday the need for U.N. approval of a disarmament plan which emphasizes control of outer space missiles.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will go before the U.N. General Assembly's 82-nation Political Committee Thursday to lead off debate bound to be influenced by Soviet developments in the field of space missiles.

Lodge will ask endorsement of Western proposals for starting the world on the path toward disarmament.

On the eve of the debate, President Eisenhower said the United States is prepared to enter into multi-nation talks on control of outer space missiles for peaceful purposes, provided Britain, France, Canada and other interested allies agree. He ruled out direct American-Russian negotiations. (Story on Page 2.)

The British said they favored setting up a "working party" to study the type of controls needed.

The United States withheld the specific terms of the disarmament resolution it will ask the United Nations to endorse. But sources familiar with the resolution insisted it is based in principle on the Western proposals advanced at the London disarmament talks and spurned by the Russians.

Peaceful Purpose

These informants said that "something having to do with the use of outer space missiles for peaceful purposes" will be included in the resolution expected to be sponsored by about 20 nations.

The proposals advanced in London called for establishment of a technical committee to study an inspection system aimed at insuring that the sending of objects through space will be "exclusively for peaceful and scientific purposes."

Lodge is expected to devote special attention to this phase of the problem of disarmament. It has been highlighted by the Soviet success in launching an earth satellite with the aid of powerful rocket engines which also could serve instruments of war.

As the debate neared, India brought out proposals intended to break the East-West deadlock.

Two resolutions were offered to the Assembly both centered on the idea of establishing two "tripartite" commissions which would work on both disarmament and the abolition of nuclear tests.

Commission

Two resolutions were offered to the assembly, one proposing a commission to deal with abolition of nuclear tests, and the other to consider general disarmament questions such as ending production of fissionable materials for war purposes, manufacture of nuclear weapons, and dismantling existing H-bomb and A-bomb stockpiles.

The commissions would be made up of an equal number of states holding to the Western and Soviet views on disarmament, plus "representatives of other states to be chosen by agreement between the aforesoid representatives."

The two groups would not supplant the 12-member Disarmament Commission, but make recommendations to it. Arthur Lall, India's permanent representative to the U.N., said it would be up to the commission to decide the future of its present five-nation subcommittee. The Big Four powers and Canada make up the subcommittee.

'Sputnik' Sends Out New Beep

Still Over Earth And On Course

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sputnik sped around the world on a steady course Wednesday, speaking to earthbound scientists with a strong new radio voice.

The Soviet satellite was estimated by the Naval Research Laboratory here to be circling the globe once in every 96.1 minutes at an average altitude of about 400 miles.

Some observers believe the man-made moon is slowing down and descending toward a fiery finish in the friction of denser atmosphere, but a spokesman for the Naval Laboratory said:

"Our figures just don't support this."

Die Out

The satellite's radio signals died out mysteriously Tuesday night, but they came back after a six-hour period and the Navy scientists reported they were strong and clear on one pass over Washington Wednesday.

Instead of the original beep-beep, however, they were now getting more of a steady signal.

As the satellite rocketed through its fifth day in the heavens, President Eisenhower discussed the Russian achievement for the first time.

(Story on Page 2.)

The Vienna, Austria, observatory agreed Wednesday with the U.S. Naval scientists that the Russia sphere was still in its original orbit and going strong. Further confirmation came from Dr. John P. Hagen, director of operation Vanguard, the U.S. Satellite project.

Not Falling

"Our observations do not lead us to believe the U.S.S.R. satellite is falling into the lower atmosphere," Hagen said.

A leading British astronomer, Prof A. C. Lovell, said in London the satellite may be smashed to pieces by debris from the comet Giacobini-Zinner.

Lovell said the earth crossed the path of this comet late Wednesday. He urged close observation of the satellite to see what would happen.

Efforts of a Cambridge, Mass., moonwatch team to photograph the satellite Wednesday morning were thwarted by cloudy weather. Fourteen telescopes had been manned to try to get some pictures.

Picture Taken

A photograph was taken in Auckland, New Zealand, however. Reports from Auckland, coupled with the photographic evidence, indicated the Soviet sphere might be wavering slightly in its course.

Ike Invites Snubbed Negro To White House Breakfast

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday invited the Negro finance minister of Ghana, who was snubbed at a roadside restaurant in Delaware, to breakfast with him Thursday at the White House.

Eisenhower extended the surprise invitation a few hours after learning that the visitor, K. A. Gbedemah, had not been allowed to eat in a Dover, Del., restaurant because of his race.

The restaurant is operated by Howard Cook under a Howard Johnson franchise.

Gbedemah told a luncheon audience in New York Wednesday he had contemplated filing protests with the U.S. government and the Howard Johnson restaurant chain, but that since the President stepped in, "I think I will forget all about it."

First American

He said that since the incident he has received numerous messages from people of all types "particularly from the first American, President Eisenhower."

Gbedemah added he didn't think the Dover incident would affect Ghana-American relations "in any manner whatsoever."

He postponed his departure for Ghana to accept the invitation to Washington. The White House said Vice President Nixon would attend the breakfast. Nixon and Gbedemah have dined in each other's homes in the past.

Bill Sutherland, the minister's private secretary, will accompany him here but James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary, said he knew nothing of the possibility that Sutherland would join the breakfasters. Sutherland, an American Negro, was with Gbedemah in Dover and received the same treatment.

Eisenhower's breakfast invitation demonstrated the chief executive's reaction to the restaurant incident which occurred Monday night, the White House said.

Followed Up

The State Department swiftly followed up the President's move by apologizing formally to the embassy of the newly independent west African nation.

"The Department of State greatly regrets that this incident has occurred involving a good friend and distinguished visitor," said an announcement.

Department officials also telephoned Howard Johnson, head of the restaurant chain. The incident was called to Johnson's attention, said a department spokesman, with the hope such occurrences would not happen again.

In Quincy, Mass., where the restaurant chain has its central offices, a spokesman said the company believes in serving anyone.

Many Colored People

He went on to say the company "employs many fine colored people. . . We have for 25 years. . . We don't inquire about creed or color."

The franchised restaurant in Dover has been advised that any patron should be served, the spokesman said. He added that in franchised restaurants the company controls only the food and the architectural appearance of the buildings.

A reporter asked Hagerty whether Eisenhower ever owned an interest in the Howard Johnson chain. Hagerty said no, that he believed the President had an interest in another chain. When the reporter said he recalled that Eisenhower had a partnership in a Howard Johnson franchise sometime between the end of the war and the time he became President, Hagerty said he would check on it but wouldn't guarantee that newsmen would get an answer.

'SUPERIOR' U.S. SATELLITE TO GO ALOFT IN MARCH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower gave assurances Wednesday the United States will launch next March a satellite scientifically superior to the one the Russians now have spinning through space.

The first of a series of smaller test satellites will go up in December, Eisenhower told a news conference.

The President said the United States "could have produced an orbiting . . . satellite before now." But he said this country isn't in any satellite race.

To have been first, Eisenhower said, would have meant merging the satellite and military missiles projects, "to the detriment of scientific goals and military progress."

He said missiles had, and still have, top priority — something never accorded the satellite program.

The chief executive conceded that on missiles:

"I wish we were further ahead and knew more as to accuracy and to the erosion and to the heat-resistant qualities of metals and all the other things we have to know."

While Eisenhower indicated he sees no particular need to be disturbed about Soviet activities in the satellite and missiles field, the new secretary of Defense, Neil H. McElroy, said a speed-up of the ballistic missile program is being considered seriously.

McElroy, in his first news conference, related this to the Soviet satellite on grounds that the power of the rockets which propelled the man-made moon aloft was evidence of Soviet progress with missiles.

A leading Republican, Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, added his voice to a demand for a full-scale inquiry into satellite and missile programs.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committee already has instructed a subcommittee to take on this task. It will be headed by the Democratic leader of the Senate, Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Rep. Lane (D-Mass) wired Eisenhower urging him to summon Congress back into a special session "for a multi-billion dollar get-going program to recapture first place in space."

Eisenhower's news conference was almost all missiles and satellites. It got around to just two other topics:

Little Rock — Asked whether he felt Little Rock High School could have been integrated peacefully if Gov. Orval Faubus had not called out the National Guard, Eisenhower replied:

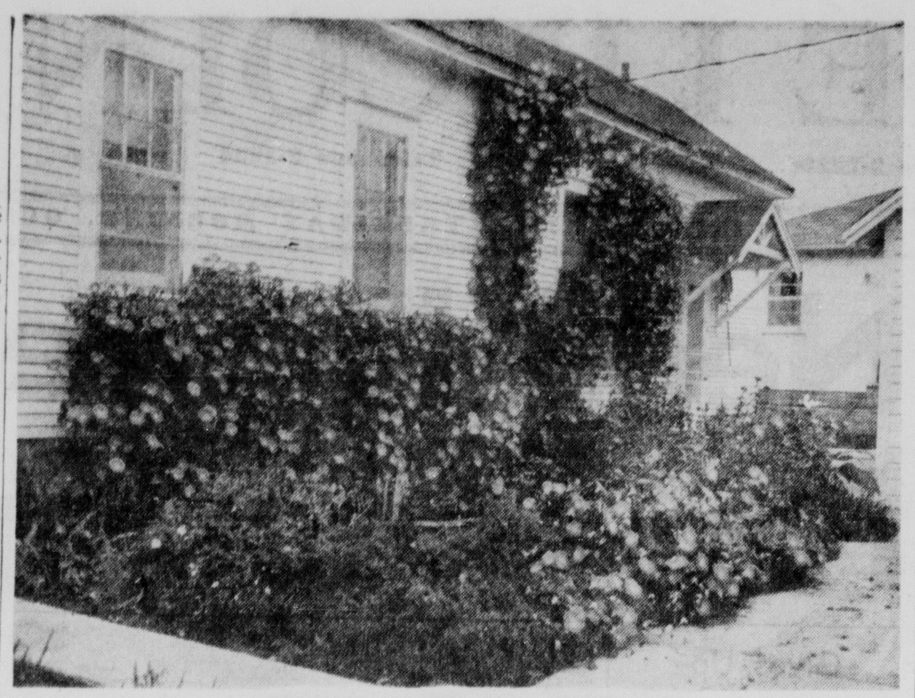

"At other points in Arkansas, inegration took place, beginnings at integration took place, without any disturbance whatsoever. I don't know of any particular reason why this one should have been different."

Zhukov — The President said he knew nothing of any rebuff of a Russian feeler about a visit to this country by Eisenhower's World War II friend, Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov.

Eisenhower reverted to a July news conference at which he had said that a meeting between Zhukov and former secretary of Defense Wilson might be useful. But it was a hypothetical answer to a hypothetical question, he said.

Eisenhower said "we try carefully to avoid" anything that "looks like a bilateral attempt to dictate to the world." Certainly any such matter would be cleared with our allies, he said, and "if everybody was fearful, we would have to take that into consideration."

Similarly, Eisenhower rejected any two-nation arrangement with Russia for control of satellites.

NORWEGIANS SPEAK OUT AGAINST GERMAN GENERAL

. . . Who Now Commands NATO Land Forces

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norwegians demonstrated Wednesday against the presence of German Gen. Hans Speidel, a former Hitler general who now commands NATO land forces in central Europe.

Gen. Spiedel

The Nazis jailed Spiedel after a bomb plot on Hitler's life. The Bonn government called him from his post as a history professor in 1950 to be an adviser for the new German army and NATO named him land forces commander last February.

About 200 workers and students at Oslo Airport shouted anti-Nazi slogans and waved protesting banners. They pelted two British generals with gravel by mistake.

Crowd Of 5,000

Another crowd of 5,000 demonstrated in the capital. Oslo street cars stopped for two minutes at noon as a protest.

Speidel avoided the demonstrations by landing at an airport 50 miles from Oslo and driving to the capital.

A group of about 100 Norwegians marched to the German Embassy where it stood for a while, then disbanded. It consisted chiefly of young Communists, some rowdy youngsters and some old prisoners of war.

Union Gives 'Most' Of Records To Senate Rackets Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Subpoenaed election records of last week's Teamsters Union convention in Miami Beach, rescued from a hotel's waste paper, were turned over Wednesday to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

A cardboard packing box full of records was delivered to Robert F. Kennedy, the committee's chief counsel, by Joseph Konowe, secretary of the convention credentials committee.

Konowe said "I believe we recovered substantially all" of the records.

After Hoffa Election

A subpoena for the records was served immediately after James R. Hoffa's election to succeed Dave Beck as president of the nation's largest union.

The committee is looking into charges that many convention delegates were hand picked to rig the election of Hoffa, who has been accused by the Senate investigators of misusing union funds and power.

Konowe told newsmen the credentials of individual delegates to the convention never were thrown out.

Maid Blamed

But he said a maid at the Eden Roc Hotel, the convention headquarters, had "inadvertently" thrown a boxful of minutes of credentials committee meetings down a chute into the hotel basement.

Konowe said the union recovered them from a large bale of waste paper. He brought pictures to illustrate the search.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), Rackets Committee chairman, said the committee had been informed by a union lawyer that the subpoenaed papers had been thrown down the hotel incinerator by a maid who later died of a heart attack.

Kennedy said he since has received reports that "the maid who died worked on a different floor and couldn't have had anything to do with it."

SAN MARINO PARLEY MAY END CRISIS

SAN MARINO (AP)—The Communist regime here, in power 12 years, waived Wednesday night on whether to continue resistance against an anti-Communist government. A secret parley early Thursday may give the final answer.

Red Interior Minister Domenico Morganti told reporters the Communists were ready to step down "any time our opponents want to take over." But a few hours later he said the party still had not decided what to do.

Morganti said peace talks had broken down because the anti-Communists insisted that all pro-Communist members of San Marino's 60-member parliament must resign.

Anti-Reds have been running a provisional, opposition government in a broken down factory building since Oct. 1.

San Marino is the only Communist-ruled nation in the West. It's population is 14,000.

Mr. McFarland, who had been a carpenter and painter in Lincoln, moved to Pomona about eight years ago.

He died in Pomona Monday.

Surviving are his wife, Ida; a son, Ralph of El Monte, Calif.; a daughter, Ruth of Pomona; and a sister, Mrs. M. N. Adams of Lincoln.

WATCH, KIDDIES, AS LARVAE EAT LITTLE ONES

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. received a protest Wednesday against a children's nature program that told young listeners to watch big larvae eat little larvae.

The BBC's radio network carried a suggestion that species of water beetle be placed in a jar of water. Then, the children were told, watch how the big ones devour the little larvae.

The League Against Cruel Sports wrote Sir Ian Jacob, director general of the state-controlled BBC:

"If it had been the BBC's purpose, which we feel sure it is not, to train children to become little sadists, a more effective lesson to achieve this end could not have been devised."

The BBC has as yet made no reply.

45 Men Awaiting Ship Aid

HONOLULU (INS) — A rescue vessel arrived late Dednesday at the side of the U.S. Navy tanker Mission San Miguel, hard aground on a mid-Pacific coral reef with 45 civilian crewmen aboard.

The Navy LST 664 radioed Pearl Harbor it reached the grounded 7-500-ton tanker on Maro Reef, about 730 miles northwest of Honolulu and was standing by to give assistance.

One hour and a half later the Coast Guard relayed a message from the Mission San Miguel's skipper who reported the ship's condition ciritical with seawater entering the engine room and pumps running under water.

"A list of 12 degrees to port has developed," the tanker skipper's message said, "an increase from four degrees at 11:25 a.m."

Nevertheless, the crew remained aboard to await the arrival of a Navy salvage tug enroute from Pearl Harbor. Apparently there were no crewmen injured and the skipper considered them in no immediate danger.

The Mission San Miguel, enroute from Guam to Seattle, slammed into the submerged reef Tuesday night.

Army To Call 7,000 Men

. . . For December

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Wednesday issued a draft call for 7,000 men in December.

This is the same quota previously announced for the months of October and November. It brings to 2,260,430 the number drafted or earmarked for induction since the resumption of selective Service in September, 1950.

The Army said Selective Service had been asked to provide the entire December quota before Dec. 12 so draftees would not have to leave their homes and report for induction in the days immediately preceding the Christmas and New Year season.

3 Remain On Critical List After Blaze

Lincoln Star Special

AINSWORTH, Neb. — An Ainsworth mother and two of her children remained on the critical list late Wednesday from burns received in a blaze Tuesday night which burned out their small home bringing death to two other children in the family.

Mrs. Axel Irwin, 38; her daughter, Alberta Hall, 12; and her son, Charles Irwin, 6, remained hospitalized here with severe burns. Dying in the flames were Ben Irwin, 3, and Jean Irwin, 8.

Escaping injury were Mr. Irwin, Leon Hall, 18, and Nadine Irwin, three months. Another member of the family, Lenora Hall, 16, was not at home at the time.

Ainsworth Police Chief Gene Welke said the fire started when the bottom fell from a gasoline can with which Mrs. Irwin was filling the motor of a washing machine.

Check On NU Flu Cases To Take While

Dr. Samuel Fuenning, director of the NU student health center, estimated Wednesday that it will take two or three weeks before "suspicious" Asian flu cases among students can be officially diagnosed.

Test samples have been sent in to the State Health Laboratories, which in turn send the samples to laboratories in Omaha and Georgia for isolation of the virus.

The new virus isolation technique, he explained, takes several weeks, and the high incidence of flu nationally will probably add to delay in receiving reports.

Dr. Fuenning reported that flu incidence among University of Nebraska students is now higher than normal. Two or three cases have been clinically diagnosed as suspected Asian flu, he said, but only virus isolation can give the official diagnosis.

Because of the relative newness of the testing techniques and the complicated laboratory equipment necessary for virus detection the state laboratories are not equipped to run tests.

U.S. BRACES ITSELF FOR SONGS LIKE 'RACING WITH THE SPUTNIK'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Library of Congress braced itself Wednesday for a rush by songwriters to get there first with a song memorializing the Russian satellite, the Sputnik.

"It's a little too early, I guess," Richard MacCarteney of the copyright division said. But 15 early birds had needed only the barest announcement that this country was planning a satellite to burst into song. How were they to know that Moscow would get there first?

'With Boogie Beat'

Already copyrighted are such works as "Satellite Baby," by Jerry Hoffman; "Satellite for Two," by Raymond R. Hopman, and "Satellite Excursion With the Boogie Beat," which required the combined talents of Sam Pooner and Vincent Warren Ballinger.

But, so far, no one has crashed the Sputnik song barrier with a copyrighted piece.

There have been amateur efforts like this:

"I know that we'll soon get
Our own little moonlet."

Or:

"Strictly between us,
We'll homestead on Venus."

But let's face it. Getting a good rhyme for Sputnik is something like trying to find a classy school yell for Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Space Platform May Be Next Russian Surprise

MOWCOW (INS)—Russia's next big scientific surprise may be directly connected with plans for a "space platform."

Such a platform would be of incalculable scientific and strategic significance.

One of the scientist who is believed to have been active in the satellite project hinted that creation of a "space station" can be achieved by the Soviet Union.

40 Times Faster

Dr. V. Dobronravov said a platform can be "hung" in space by a rocket developing a speed 40 per cent greater than the one that launched Sputnik I.

Scientists have dreamed of keeping such a platform hovering over the earth indefinitely, as a jumping-off place for journeys to other parts of the universe.

In order to break free of the pull of gravity, the "space station" would have to be about 20,000 miles up.

To keep it in the same spot over the earth, it would have to be directed into an orbit around the earth's equator at the same relative speed as the earth.

Cosmic Ray Research

Such a platform would be enormously valuable in research on cosmic rays, meteorites and the sun's corona.

Dr. Dobronravov said: "Soviet scientists are working on projects of cosmic ships that can penetrate beyond the solar system."

These so-called "photonic rockets" would travel at the speed of light "to reach the stars," he said.

Dr. Dobronravov said space flights are "a matter of the future, when the human body, through a process of evolution, will become adaptable" to conditions of travel at terrific speeds.

N.Y. LIBRARY HAS JUNE MAGAZINE TELLING ABOUT REDS' SATELLITE

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet radio amateurs were told four months ago exactly what to expect when the Soviet Union sent its first satellite aloft. The plans were in a magazine for radio amateurs which went to press June 6.

A copy of the magazine was found Wednesday in the New York public library. Presumably U.S. scientists who follow Russian scientific publications read this article, in a magazine called "Radio" long ago.

A similar article was published in the Moscow magazine Ogonek, and the gist of this was reported June 9 by the Associated Press.

"Radio" appealed to Russian radio amateurs to be on the alert and informed them how to conduct their observations exactly so as to give soviet science maximum benefit from the enterprise.

No Date Given

The magazine did not give the date for launching of the baby moon nor reveal its weight.

"Radio" said the satellite would circle the earth in 90 minutes. The actual time was 96.2 minutes. The magazine said the satellite would have a speed of 17,895 miles per hour. The actual speed the first day was a few miles less than 18,000 m.p.h.

This article indicates that the satellite launching was accomplished "in accordance with plan" —that it was not a hasty shot in the dark taken hurriedly in the aftermath of the testing of a ballistic missile.

Space Colder, Less Dense

MOSCOW (INS) — Soviet scientists said it has been found that space 200 to 300 miles above the earth is much colder and "many times" less dense than hitherto believed.

As a result, they said, Sputnik I should be able to whirl in its orbit for an "undetermined" period.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the new information about the temperatures and density came from a preliminary analysis of the trajectory of the first man-made moon which was rocketed into space five days ago.

Meteor Stopped Transmissions

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A Soviet official in Moscow was quoted Wednesday night as saying that Tuesday's interruption in the earth satellite's radio transmission was caused by "meteor interference wtith the satellite's transmittting antennae."

The Albany Times-Union said it obtained this information by telephone from Henry Comeinenko of Moscow Radio.

Comeinenko was quoted also as saying that "in a few days the signals from the satellite will expire."

Comeinenko added: "Our satellite has already sent off all the necessary information."

Vienna Approved

VIENNA (AP) — The Atoms for Peace International Energy Agency voted unanimously to make Vienna the site of its permanent headquarters.

The agency now holding its first general conference, approved a proposal by its board of governors. Finland was approved for membership. Yugoslavia and Canada announced they were ready to offer unspecified amounts of uranium to the agency.

To Join 'Deep Freeze'

William G. Ehrlich, Jr., 18-year-old Lincoln youth, was selected as one of two Civil Air Patrol Cadets in the nation to join Operation Deep Freeze. He lives with his mother, Mrs. W. G. Ehrlich, at 1205 South Tenth. The youth, who attended the University of Nebraska last year and is an airman in the Air National Guard, will go to New Zealand about Nov. 1 with the Sixty-third Troop Carrier Wing. He will then spend several months on the Antarctic Continent.

Lt. Vartan Praised For Preventing Possible Crash

1st Lt. Walter G. Vartan, stationed at the Lincoln AFB has been cited for his exceptional alertness in connection with accident prevention.

Lt. Vartan was praised in an official citation this week by Lt. Col. Chris J. Sheppard, Deputy Director of Operations for the 98th Bomb Wing.

While scanning the take-off of a B-47, Lt. Vartan noticed a hydraulic leak on the left-front landing gear. It resulted in complete loss of reservoir fluid by the time power could be shut down.

Col. Sheppard lauded Lt. Vartan's "conscientious attention to a tedious task which probably avoided an accident that could easily have cost the lives of the crew members as well as the loss of a two and one-half million dollar aircraft."

The lieutenant and his family presently reside at 4010 C St. He is formerly from Evanston, Ill.

County Births Total 359 During August

Three hundred fifty-nine live births were recorded in Lancaster County during August, according to a report issued Wednesday by the City-County Health Department.

This total included 181 boys and 178 girls. One hundred ten persons died during the month—63 men and 47 women. Heart diseases claimed 31 lives—20 men and 11 women—and cancer and other malignant tumors took the lives of 13 women and 7 men. Auto accidents claimed two lives.

Grange Recommends Legislature Candidates Be Checked For Stand On Broader Tax Base

Candidates for the Nebraska Legislature next year may be examined by the Nebraska State Grange as to how they stand on the question of a broadened tax base.

At its annual convention being held in Lincoln, the State Grange added impetus to its advicacy of a state sales or income tax with a resolution urging members to learn the tax position of Unicameral candidates before the 1958 primary.

"We believe that an improvement in the Nebraska tax system is one of the most important problems to be considered by the next legislature," a resolution said.

Exempts Raw Materials

The Grange recommended a state sales tax of two per cent on retail sales of goods sold to consumers, but exempted raw materials being processed before consumption.

A state sales tax was favored "providing the rate is held at a low level."

The Grange also favored repeal of the 1954 constitutional amendment providing that sales and income tax be used only as a replacement for the state property tax.

"We believe that part of the revenue derived from a sales tax should be used for support of the public schools," the resolution added.

Said Inequitable

In urging a broadening of the tax base, the Grange took the view that it is inequitable to assess general property taxes for the major costs of government when only 30 per cent of the per capita income is estimated to be obtained from ownership of tangible property.

The Grange favored a constitutional amendment providing for the replacement of the state tax commissioner with a three-member bipartisan "tax commission," appointed by governor with legislative approval. Staggered terms of six years were advocated.

The Grange also urged repeal of a 1957 law authorizing the spending of highway user funds for other than road construction or maintenance.

Balanced Budget

On the national scene, the tax resolutions favored a balanced budget and reduction of the national debt, reduction in foreign aid, and increased postal rates for second and third class mail to reduce the Postal Department deficit.

The Grange elected Guy Brown Jr. of Geneva to its executive committee, suceeding M. A. Alexander of Lincoln.

The Grange winds up its three-day meeting Thursday with expected resolutions from its agriculture, education, legislation and highway committees.

W. J. Brake, Michigan Grange master, told delegates Wednesday night that "the Grange approach to income equality in agriculture is rapidly gaining stature and support as it becomes understood."

The domestic parity plans being drawn up for farm commodities are designed to replace the "fruitless policies" of flexible or rigid price supports.

'Not New'

Terming the Grange-sponsored plans as "not particularly new," Brake stated that they would "increase and stabilize farm income" and "make use of self-help, self-financing principles wherever possible."

"Progressively the government would be taken out of the business of marketing food and fiber," Brake explained, adding that the plans "seem to have the green light nationally."

He urged Nebraska Grange members to understand the programs and to obtain additional local support for them. "We must enlist others on our team if we are to carry the ball successfully for agriculture," he said.

Utica Grange 410 was recognized Wednesday night for placing in the Community Service Contest sponsored by the National Grange and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

The Utica Grange received a $1,000 award and is now eligible to enter the national contest with a $10,000 prize.

Time To Keep Cool

America has allowed itself to be shaken by two recent events—the incident at Little Rock and the appearance of Russia's satellite moon in the sky. Its "all is lost feeling" is unrealistic.

Of course it is distressing to experience civil rights disorder before a watching and in part critical world and it is disturbing, too, to note that a potential enemy is moving in a formidable sphere of science not yet realized here. But neither of those facts are as destructive as a national state of mind they can cause.

It is a good time to reflect how disturbed Russia must have been when our atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima. It had nothing to match it and nothing on the planning board that could assure any sort of security for a number years. It is a good time also to reflect that Russia not too long ago faced the world with a bloody Hungary on its hands. And even while there was bloodless disagreement at Little Rock, Polish students were rioting in the face of their Russian-dominated Gomulka government. The world witnessed those events, too.

America has no reason either to succumb to fear or to allow its thinking to be influenced by that most dangerous of all states of mind. Rather the appearance of a Russian earth satellite a few months before it meets its counterpart in the sky, launched by the United States, should result only in a short period of self-examination followed by such adjustment of thought and action as to thrust this nation out in front again farther than ever. There is a lesson in it on complacency and self-satisfaction—that's all.

The Way You Look At It

Out in the irrigated fields of Lexington where the thick rows of corn creak with the heavy burden of ears, they decided who was the state's 1957 champion corn picker this week.

It went to Elvin Denman, Grand Island farmer, who now is a four time winner. There is a man who is not a champion by luck or accident. He wins too consistently. He knows something others have not yet found out—a scientist of a sort whose discoveries one day will become general knowledge and therefore increase the headache of Agriculture Secretary Benson who must lie on a fevered and fretful bed of a night counting the endless bins of surplus grain as they file vaporously past his foot board. He could do without these striding, ingenious, improvement-minded men like Denman. What his quest needs most of all right now is shiftless, dull-eyed plowers with a stick who can make one ear grow where three once did. That always takes care of surpluses. What these farmers need is a shot of something, a medical fulgee, that will cause the onward and upward look to fade from their eyes—men of the soil who could hardly grow a field of corn suitable for a picking contest and participants who couldn't hit a bangboard with one ear in a whole day.

Yet at the edge the Lexington field Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton waved his hand at the lush fields and reminded the crowd that Nebraska is a perfect example of the principle of partnership and teamwork in the water and power fields.

Out here we are inclined to go along with Mr. Seaton on that, pondering at the time on how so many concepts so diverse can thrive in one national capital.

Farm Land Values

A report from the Agricultural Department in Washington shows that on a national level the value of farm lands has climbed to a record $112.4 billion and is heading even higher.

The figure is 8 per cent higher than the total at the same time in 1956. The department also has reasoned that the climb in values is due to favorable crop prospects, good weather and the trend toward bigger farms. The government soil bank program, where farmers are paid for putting crop land into grass or trees, was also credited with increasing the demand for poorer farm land.

Perhaps the department is right and it undoubtedly has much more information to go on than has been published but it seems that several possibilities have not been covered. The indications from the department report is that better farm conditions have resulted in higher land values.

It might be, but just the opposite could be true. The increase in value might stem from a farm mortgage situation which reflects just more borrowing by farmers to stay in business.

It is not quite clear whether the value figure is based on sales or appraisals but certainly the former would have to be at least a part of the consideration in determining value. Part of the reasoning of the department might be that fewer sales show better conditions which mean higher prices on the land. This, however, is not necessarily true as slow movement of farm real estate could mean, as that condition does with town real estate, that times financially are tougher.

Also, it is hard to see how government payments for soil bank land could furnish enough incentive for investment purposes. For one thing, the soil bank program is much too fluid a thing to bank your savings on. Secondly, the drop in sign-ups by farmers for the soil bank program shows that the only really profitable farm operation is one of full production.

If the department is going to make the public believe that farmers are in the pink, it is going to have to offer more proof than the figures on farm land values.

Double Reverse

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

This is the time of year when every sports-minded person should be well up on the good old double reverse. In this day of fast football, the double reverse is not as prominent as it was in the "old days" of the single wing attack but it is still around. All it takes to work it is a quarterback smart enough to know when its trickery will catch the defense off guard.

★

But don't be misled. While we agree that a lot of folks would probably prefer it, this little dissertation is not about football. We like the sport real well but admit there are better authorities for it elsewhere. The sport and the play are actually little more than an excuse or wedge to get us into a subject which, when viewed from the angle we have chosen here, reminds us of a double reverse. It's sort of a situation where the possibility exists for things not being exactly what they look like and the possibility of their changing complexion so they more closely resemble their true selves. You might never guess that this involves the Russian satellite launching and U.S. foreign aid, but it does. Frankly, we are quite tangled up in our thoughts right here but will attempt to straighten this out by starting where we probably should have in the first sentence. Things actually begin in the Wall Street Journal and a story therein about Ceylon—island off the southern tip of India, full of intrigue, elephants, mahouts, Buddhist monks, Communists, Socialists and capitalists.

Ceylon Next On Red List?

★

According to the story, the Red timetable calls for total peaceful conquest of Ceylon within five years. The little country is presently drifting more toward Socialism while accepting aid in all ways from both Western and Communist nations. Ceylon Prime Minister Solomon W. R. D. Bandaranaike—who, so far as we know, is not called "Ike"—generously offers to accept aid from any nation. Help from any country, he says, is not ruled out for political reasons. A large amount of foreign aid is required, he adds, "to carry out our economic development program."

★

You would think this would irk the nations competing for the friendship of the Indian Ocean island, but such is not the case. On the contrary, the U.S. and Red nations pour ever-increasing amounts—the Reds also use promises—into this presently neutral country. India's neutrality seems to be a somewhat contagious disease. Over $11 million has been poured into Ceylon by the U.S. in the past two fiscal years. But the story in Ceylon is much like it is in other nations receiving U.S. aid. The money and help are gladly accepted but political alliances do not necessarily follow. In Ceylon, American aid has appeared to work best as a force to bring Communist aid. Ceylon trade agreements with Red China, Russia and Czechoslovakia are substantial and on the increase. Developments such as this make one wonder, not just about the value of foreign aid, but the thinking of nations which receive it. To Americans, it does not seem honorable to accept a gift, and then stab the bearer in the back.

Both Ends Against The Middle

★

The thought occurred that perhaps the American dollars are building more good will than might appear on the surface and the Reds are just being taken for a ride. It would not be illogical for Ceylon and some other nations to figure that the U.S. is an easy mark and in a crisis would come forward with the support needed, regardless of past treatment. The U.S. being a great world power, it would thus be smart to play this nation against the Reds. However, the Russian moon-launching could scare some of these "middle-men" nations to such an extent that they would gain more respect for strong American friendships. The launching could bring a re-evaluation among smaller nations on where their freedom really lies. Then would come a true test of America's foreign aid policy. In Ceylon, we will have the answer when the Russian timetable is either met or abandoned.

Farewell Dreadnaughts

Within the coming two weeks the Navy will retire its last two battleships, the super dreadnaughts Iowa and Wisconsin.

It is the end of the line for the heavily armored, hard-hitting ships that dominated the sea for so many years, fired the imagination of people and proved the make-difference between nations whose life and power depended upon the sea. Great Britain, so long boasting as ruler of the waves, retired its last battleship some time ago.

The Iowa and the Wisconsin are 45,000-ton ships built at a cost of $110 million each during World War II. They are being retired because they are no longer effective in this atomic air age. Their shaky successor is the giant aircraft carriers.

One might ask, does this spell the ultimate end of the Navy? One doubts that. War capability must be maintained in all fighting media, land, sea and sky. The Navy is only closing an effective chapter and embarking on a new one. Its tradition has been one of rapid and effective readjustment.

Beats Us

One can understand why Senator Knowland, a Californian, would leave the United States Senate to seek the governorship of California. But it is hard to square a Californian's estimate of California with the rest of his decision to go on from there to the presidency. Having achieved the ultimate why would he wish to take such a backward step? To a Californian the presidency is just a consolation prize for Americans of unfortunate birth and inferior residence.

Reds Plan To Take Over Middle East

WASHINGTON — Andrei Gromyko got his first introduction to Washington as the dour, uncommunicative secretary of the Soviet embassy on 16th Street. He lived not far from the White House in the mansion once owned by Mrs. Pullman of the Pullman Car Company, whose president was Robert Todd Lincoln, son of Abe Lincoln. That residence, however, was Gromyko's only connection with American tradition.

John Foster Dulles first saw Washington as a young adviser to his uncle, Robert Lansing, secretary of state for Woodrow Wilson; his grandfather, John Foster, was secretary of state in Benjamin Harrison's cabinet; and John Foster was steeped in American tradition. His great ambition was to become secretary of state.

I do not know what Andrei Gromyko's ambition was, or whether a Communist bureaucrat is supposed to have ambition. But I do know that Gromyko eventually worked up the Communist ladder until he became ambassador in that old Pullman mansion on 6th Street, and later minister of foreign affairs.

Simultaneously, John Foster Dulles had come from one of the oldest, most renowned law firms on Wall Street to become a specialist in foreign affairs, then secretary of state. Both men officially were equal, but unofficially Dulles was always able to talk to Gromyko from a position of prestige and power—the prestige of his background and the power of having the H-bomb, the A-bomb, and the greatest Air Force in the world.

Last week, however, that situation was reversed. As these two men sat down in Dulles's colonial mansion overlooking Rock Creek, our secretary of state found himself talking to a man whose country had developed the intercontinental ballistic missile, a new jet transport and an earth satellite which electrified the world.

There could have been no worse time for Foster Dulles to have held this talk. But he had to.

I do not know the specific details of what the two men talked about, but I do know that before they began talking this was what faced John Foster Dulles. This was why he asked Gromyko to sit down face to face.

1. The Turkish ambassador had been calling at the State Department repeatedly to warn that Turkey was not going to stand still while Russia built up a vast arms base in Syria to the south, and kept a Russian fleet three times the size of the U.S. 6th Fleet to the north in the Black Sea.

2. Turkish Prime Minister Menderes hinted to the American embassy in Ankara that Turkey might take things into its own hands regarding the big Russian arms base in Syria unless President Eisenhower makes a bold move to halt Russian expansion in the Near East.

3. The Lebanese government has informed the State Department in blunt and vigorous language that the Russian timetable is scheduled to take over all the Near East—within one year.

4. The Israeli government has told the State Department that there will be little use having a NATO army protecting western Europe from Russia, if Russia takes over the Near East and can cut off oil to supply the NATO army, plus oil to supply the factories of Europe.

These ambassadors and prime ministers were not kidding.

When the prime minister of Turkey talked about moving in on Syria, the State Department knew he meant it. For, one month ago, Turkey almost marched on the Syrian city of Aleppo. And the American public never knew how close the Near East was to war in mid-September.

Virginia's Dalton Offset To Faubus

WASHINGTON—Because of Little Rock, the Eisenhower administration is prevented from helping State Senator Ted Dalton, Republican candidate for governor of Virginia, but it is beginning to appear that Dalton is performing a valuable service for the administration.

Governor Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas is annoying but hardly in the President's class as a political heavyweight. Observers here realize that Mr. Eisenhower's big headache with integration will come across the river in Virginia where U.S. Senator Harry F. Byrd is trumpeting massive resistance. Byrd is formidable by reason of his standing with the conservative press and his Senate committee power over the financial and military policies of the administration.

Dalton's persistent attacks on what he calls "the massive fraud" of massive resistance has shaken the seemingly-solid Byrd foundations at home. The more trouble Dalton can make at the rear, of course, the better it will be for the President when he has to confront Virginia's defiance.

Dalton's thesis is that while integration is bad, it is worse to deceive Virginians into thinking they can nullify the Supreme Court's decree. He has called, instead, for a pupil-assignment plan based on considerations other than race such as North Carolina is now using with apparent success.

His campaigning wrung from his Byrd-picked rival for governor, J. Lindsay Almond Jr., an acknowledgment that there would be "some enforced integration" in Virginia. This apparent heresy promptly brought a table-pounding roar from Byrd that he stands solidly for massive resistance.

Almond had swallowed hard and said his remarks had been "lifted out of context." In the well-known Roosevelt-Truman style, he blamed editors, not reporters. Then he pounded the table, too, and cried that he would fight as long as he possibly could within the framework of the law.

This party patchwork is expected to survive election day. There is hardly time for the Supreme Court to rule before then on several Virginia cases and so confront the voters with the alternative of closing its schools.

But the exchange bolster's Dalton's view that Almond actually has little taste for the Byrd doctrine of utter defiance of the Supreme Court. Dalton now is pounding hard on the theme that Almond is mired in contradiction."

☆ ☆ ☆

Four years ago, with the "time for a change theme," Dalton got 45 per cent of the vote for governor. Now President Eisenhower, though he twice carried Virginia himself, is a handicap, and Republican headquarters dare not even slip some loose change into state GOP coffers.

With great courage and dignity, Dalton has continued to campaign. By northern standards, he is not liberal or even moderate, but he is talking sense as he sees it and he remains undaunted by the Byrd legend.

Answer To Red Moon, Air Force Jet Raid

NEW YORK—The Air Force has given a ringing answer to the Russian rocketeers who have proved they can hang a moon over our cities—a moon that theoretically can say "boom!" instead of "beep."

SAC's top B-47 and B-52 crews, accompanied by RAF crews flying Vulcan and Valiant jet bombers, will open on the night of October 30 a six-day simulated H-bomb attack on three famed target cities.

Minsk? Pinsk? Stalingrad?

Nope. Atlanta, St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo.

☆ ☆ ☆

It's the annual Bombing, Navigation and Reconnaissance Competition. The Georgians and Missourians won't see or hear the planes. They'll fly at better than 40,000 feet, and their "hits" will be recorded by radar from the ground. During the six-day operation the combined strategic forces will fly more than 700,000 miles and carry out 270 bomb drops on each of the three cities.

That'll change Sputnik's tune!

☆ ☆ ☆

The Milwaukee Braves are so sensitive about being called "bush," during the Milwaukee portion of the series, that there's a report that they'll refuse to play next season in the home of the St. Louis Cardinals—Busch Stadium.

☆ ☆ ☆

Walter O'Malley saw nothing at Milwaukee that made him want to change his mind about moving the Brooklyn Dodgers to L. A. when they were the Boston Braves, Lou Perini's team seldom made a quarter, often lost tens of thousands. Now they are working a gold mine that shows no sign of ever wearing out. This club is genuinely idolized in Milwaukee, and the fans there have abundantly shown how grateful they are for big league baseball.

Los Angeles will react in the same way. The Dodgers going to L. A. are a better ball club than the Braves who went to Milwaukee. O'Malley leaves with no regrets. He takes along our best wishes, and we hope he got everything he demanded of the Los Angeles city fathers—including ambergris rights to all whales who beach themselves within a radius of 50 miles around home plate.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

The Blame's In This Name

By HAL HASSELBALCH
Star Staff Writer

What's in a name? In this case, the key to the character of the bearer.

"Dids" is the name of the rambunctious pooch owned by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pierson of 2711 So. 37th. When he was a pup, Pierson explains, Dids started getting into everything as soon as he joined the Pierson household.

"Did you do this? Did you do that?" the dog was questioned constantly. Pretty soon every time someone said "Did," the dog came running. And he had not been named yet. Since they knew they had a word the dog recognized, intended to be a name or not, the Piersons decided to add an "s" and make it easy on the dog and themselves.

☆ ☆ ☆

That was the way it started and that is the way it's been since. Dids has been up to mischief every day of his one and a half years. A few weeks ago a pair of shoes just out of the store wrappings was all but devoured by Dids in his own playful way.

Brought home from the Humane Society kennels as a wedding anniversary present, Dids soon became a symbol of the sacrifices and tolerance that go into marriage and family life. On Dids' account the family had to seek a new home. A confining duplex proved no place to rear a canine of Dids' proportions.

Antics of the growing half-collie-half-shepherd prompted the Havelock grade school officials to ask that Dids be kept off the school grounds where he was interfering with too many ball games.

☆ ☆ ☆

Now, confined at his home, Dids tried the patience of both Piersons and their landlord.

Although his popularity was high with the younger set in the neighborhood ("Can Dids come out and play?" they asked daily), either Dids or the Piersons had to go.

So goes the story of how Dids and master came to live in their present home with the spacious backyard that is Dids' private domain.

But Dids, for his size and bravado, is not the outdoor type one might expect him to be. He prefers a cozy living room to a weather-exposed patio any day.

Unless he is involved in one of his worrisome tasks such as keeping other dogs off his lawn, Dids may be found relaxing in the house. If he decides to go out, he says so by dragging his leash to his master or mistress.

☆ ☆ ☆

Maybe the reason he does not care to be out much is that he feels he has seen just about all that is worth seeing. He has traveled more than 7,000 miles, seen New York, Chicago and Philadelphia.

But somehow these broadening experiences have not matured Dids as one might expect. His favorite toys are rubber animals that squeak when gnawed.

That is all right with the Piersons, but it would ease their minds somewhat if Dids would be more careful about identifying his own toys and quit swiping playthings of little tots who squeak their toys in the neighborhood. Dids loses more friends by pulling his toy-stealing bit, the Piersons say.

CLOSE TO HOME

Straw Method

Mrs. F. announced Saturday that there was an auction of antiques advertised in the paper, and why didn't we go? Just for the fun of it.

I was reasonably sure there would be none of the pressed glassware Mrs. F. collects among the things to be auctioned, since hers is a relatively scarce pattern, so I said sure, why not? So we went to the auction.

A quick sight-seeing tour among the articles to be auctioned made me feel better than ever. There wasn't even a salt dish in the Pittsburgh Daisy pattern among the pressed glassware on display. There were a tremendous lot of other items, however, from satin glass to boot jacks. It was as much fun as wandering through a second-hand store, just to look over the stuff and speculate on its history.

Off to one side in the big room was a mess of furniture. There were captain's chairs, cabinets, spinning wheels, cane-bottom chairs, tilt-top tables and an old buggy wheel. There was also a solid walnut gate-legged table which quite obviously had been hand-fashioned by a competent craftsman sometime in the last century. Mrs. F. said it was exactly what she would like to have instead of that ugly old dining room table at home.

That made me feel better, because we didn't have that much money to be tossed around on tables. I was still congratulating myself when it was time to find seats and watch the auction.

I nodded and went back to watching the auctioneer's tongue. There is something hypnotic about an auction, possibly the joy of watching other people spend their money. Two hours later the hypnotism began to wear thin, however. Mrs. F. had spent exactly $1.30 for two goblets, explaining that she couldn't do as well in a 10-cent store, and I was getting fidgety.

☆ ☆ ☆

That was when the gate-legged table came up. The auctioneer said a lady has asked that it be offered. Mrs. F. said, "I'll bet it was that woman who was looking at it. And I was just praying nobody would want it." I grunted and watched the auctioneer. He asked who would start the bidding at $80. Nobody did. After a decent wait, somebody said $35.

"Hey," I said, "that's ridiculous. Watch me have some fun." I waved some fingers in the air.

"Forty, I'm bid," the auctioneer whooped, and went into his rigamarole. Two minutes later someone said $45. Then for a while no one but the auctioneer said anything. It got to be troublesome, but I hadn't come to buy a table. The auctioneer tried for $50, then came down to $47.50. It was tempting, but I kept still. I thought I did, that is. The only move I made was to scratch this sudden itch on the back of my neck. The auctioneer whooped and said he was bid $47.50.

And that's how it came that we have another dining room table. It was not until the auction was over that I noticed the broom straw just in back of my seat. Mrs. F., I suspect, had an idea I'd raise my hand suddenly if tickled.

The Constitution

Orleans, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I do not know whether repeated discussion on the same subject is desirable or not, but if so, I would like to say to T. H. Carter of Hebron that I, too, believe that everyone should read the Constitution of the United States.

My criticisms of the President's methods of enforcing integration were based upon the belief that they are methods expressly forbidden in the Constitution. If he disregards the provisions of one part of the basic law to enforce another part, is that preserving and defending the Constitution?

Reading the Tenth Amendment, one will discover that all states do have a great many rights. All powers not specifically listed in the Constitution as belonging to the federal government belong to the states or to the people. The only place that the U.S. government is given power to protect the states from domestic violence carries the stipulation that this should be done upon application from the state legislature or the governor. This may be found in Section Four of Article Four.

There is no constitutional requirement that the states maintain a public school system. If by using methods that bred a lot of the hatreds following the Civil War, we so anger the people who are in control in the South that they do away with the public school system all together, will it benefit the colored people or any other American citizens?

INTRODUCTION

"A friend of mine," he said to me,
"I long have hoped you two would meet."
His name he mentioned casually
As we stood chatting in the street.
But, in that moment that we stayed
An introduction had been made.

I, strange to him; he, strange to me;
Our common bond the self-same friend;
Henceforth acquaintances to be,
But none knows how such meetings end.
An introduction sows the seeds
For all a lasting friendship needs.

56th & O Zoning Extension Eyed

The City Planning Commission took under advisement the request of Max Taylor for a 55-foot zoning extension on a 56th and O site planned as a small shopping center.

Planning Engineer Doug Brogden was directed to confer with Taylor concerning the projected extension of N street between 56th and Cotner in connection with the proposed additional business zoning.

Several residents of the area opposed extension of business zoning into the single-residence area as depreciating property value and contributing to the traffic congestion at 56th and O.

Taylor said the additional 55-by-440-foot area was needed for parking, placement of the buildings, and truck unloading.

Several Stores

He indicated the proposed shopping center on the presently zoned 200-by-440-foot tract at the southeast corner of the intersection would include a grocery store, drug store, variety shop, and possibly professional offices.

Brogden said the additional land for which rezoning is sought is unsuitable for residential development and recommended parking use, provided a low wall is built on the setback.

The opening of N street would provide access for residential development on the south side of N, he said.

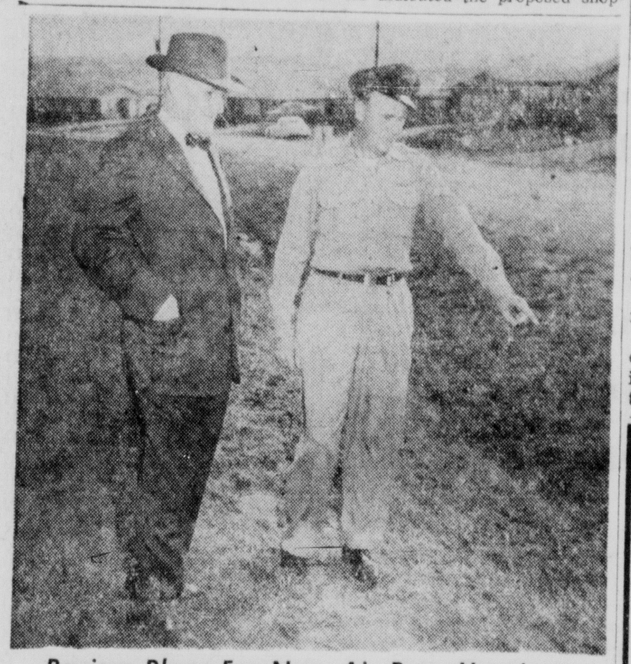

Ring Refused

In other action, the Commission recommended denial of the request of Bob Ring for light industry zoning at the northeast corner of 21st and Q.

The land is presently used as a parking lot in connection with Ring's used car sales lots at 21st and R.

No zoning change was recommended.

But Taylor's attorney pointed out there was spot industrial zoning within a one-block radius to the south and west.

CONCERT GROUP HOPES TO FILL AUDITORIUM

The Lincoln Community Concerts campaign membership committee said Wednesday night that if membership reports continue to come in as well as they have so far there is a possibility Pershing Municipal Auditorium will have its first full house for the group's concerts.

The committee said 30 of the 550 workers in the membership drive had reported Wednesday night, with 540 members for an average of 18 apiece.

"If the trend continues," the committe said, "there will be capacity attendance at the scheduled concerts."

Now planned for the series are performances by the NBC Opera Company, the American Ballet Theater and the Obernkirchen Children's Choir. There will be a minimum of two other concerts scheduled later.

Need 2,700 Classrooms For State

. . . By 1960

An estimated 2,700 additional classrooms and special facilities will be needed in Nebraska by 1960 to meet increased public school enrollments, the State Board of Education said Wednesday.

This would mean, the board said, adding about 900 classrooms per year at an estimated annual cost of 30 million dollars.

The observation was contained in the board's annual report to the governor, a 92-page printed document loaded with statistics and observations on education in Nebraska.

Last year, 35 Nebraska communities placed into use newly enlarged or renovated public school facilities costing approximately $28,780,000, the report said.

Many Schools Being Built

Last year also, public school facilities totaling approximately $15,720,000 in cost were under construction in the state.

Since 1948, Nebraska school districts have placed into use 1,410 elementary classrooms and 1,015 secondary classrooms at a cost of some 87 million dollars.

During 1956, bond issues for school purposes won voter approval while it failed. In contrast, the year before saw 39 approved and 11 fail.

Teacher Need Continues

Other observations:

Nebraska's teacher shortage continues.

More than 1,000 temporary certificates were issued last year despite the fact colleges and universities produced 1,044 new elementary teachers with at least two years of college preparation, and 789 new high school teachers with four years of college preparation.

The number of school buses and other vehicles being used to transport school children has more than doubled in six years—from 428 in 1951 to 928 in 1956.

Less Than 5,000 Districts

Last year, for the first time since 1886, Nebraska counted fewer than 5,000 school districts. The 4,958 total represented a reduction of 1,776 since 1949.

Of the school districts existing last year, 424 were providing an educational program from kindergarten through grade as (K-12), and 4,534 were K-8 districts.

The K-12 districts contained 73 per cent of the pupils attending public schools in the state.

Satellite News Shows U.S. Far Behind—Weaver

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is apparent that "we are far behind" in this phase of our scientific and technological development, Rep. Phil Weaver (R-Neb) said of the launching of the Russian satellite.

Weaver referred to a copy of his June 27 news letter concerning the defense department budget in which he said:

"An effort was made in the House to put back some $300 million for aircraft, missiles research and development, and I supported this proposition."

Weaver said "it is apparent that we must keep pace if we are going to keep the peace. In these critical phases of our defense program, we must stay in a competiting position with Soviet Russia."

The Falls City congressman had said last June:

"We cannot afford to lag behind in these highly technical and advanced scientific fields or find ourselves lulled into a false sense and feeling of security. No one wants waste, duplication or extravagance in government and we must be objective in searching these things out.

"However, we cannot afford to gamble on needed essential items o defense — particularly aircraft and missiles — when the very freedom of America is at stake."

TB Meeting Planned

OMAHA — The Mississippi Valley conference on tuberculosis will hold its 44th annual meeting at Omaha Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The sessions will be held at the Hotel Sheraton-Fontenelle.

Army Weapons Can Down 'Any Type Invading Aircraft'

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS) — The Army Air Defense Command gave its assurances Wednesday on the eve of its 40th anniversary that Army weapons can destroy any type of invading enemy aircraft.

Lt. Gen. Stanley R. Mickelsen, chief of the Army Air Defense Command with headquarters at Ent Air Force Base in Colorado Springs, added the Army is advancing toward a capability to counter enemy missile weapons of the future.

Gen. Mickelsen declared: "Today the weapons in the Army arsenal are not only capable of destroying all types of existing aircraft, but are in an advanced state of development for countering the enemy weapons of the future."

Mickelsen, in a special anniversary message to Army Air defense units protecting selected centers throughout the nation, said: "In view of the key role which the Air Defense Command is now taking in deterring aggression against our country, I consider it important that we observe the 40th anniversary of the Army Air Defense organizations in the most appropriate manner."

He noted that since the modest beginning of the Army Air Defense with the anit-aircraft artillery units formed in World War I, the Army has not only kept pace with the technological advances of the 20th Century but has been in the forefront with its developments.

The Army Air Defense Command is the Army member of the team of United States and Canadian services making up the North American Air Defense Command.

Balloon Guns

In four decades, the gamut of Army air defense weaponry has been run from "balloon guns" to the supersonic surface-to-air Nike Ajax guided missiles now guarding American cities and bases.

Soon to be deployed against possible attack are Nike Hercules missiles, which can carry either an atomic or conventional high explosive warhead.

Natural Pipeline Company Beatrice Project Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A power commission examiner ruled Wednesday that five natural gas pipeline companies should be allowed to build nearly 182 million dollars worth of facilities to increase gas supplies available in the midwest, principally in the Chicago area.

The decision by Examiner Glen R. Law will become a final commission order if no review is initiated within 30 days.

It covers projects by: Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America, Texas Illinois Natural Gas Pipeline Co., and Chicago District Pipeline Co., all of Chicago; Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp., Salt Lake City; and Colorado Interstate Gas Co., Colorado Springs, Colo.

The applications of the companies were interdependent. They formed primarily a unified proposal designed to make available an additional 483 million cubic feet of gas a day to midwest areas.

Natural's project would cost $76,199,000. It includes 415.7 miles of line between Beatrice, Neb., and Joliet, Ill.

Colorado Interstate's proposed expansion also includes installing 60,980 horsepower in new and existing compressor stations.

The project would enable the company to serve its existing customers in the Rocky Mountain area better, and to deliver a maximum of 460,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily to Natural at Beatrice, Neb. When new deliveries to Natural are started, Colorado Interstate will discontinue its present deliveries of 50,000,000 cubic feet daily to Natural at another point.

Jerry Lewis' Wife Has Fourth Son

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Jerry Lewis' wife presented him with their fourth son Wednesday.

"I'm now tied with Bing Crosby," the comedian cracked, noting that the groaner also has four sons.

The baby and Lewis' wife, Patti, were reported doing fine at St. John's Hospital.

Lewis said he is stumped for a name, explaining:

"I had picked out Catherine because I was expecting a girl—but what do I do now?"

The Lewises' other sons are Gary, 12; Ronnie, 8, and Scotty, 18 months.

Draft Deferment Tests Will Be Once A Year

Col. Francis S. Drath, deputy state director of Selective Service for Nebraska, said Wednesday that draft deferment tests for college students, normally given at principal Nebraska colleges once each semester, will be offered only once during the 1957-58 academic year.

The test, known as the selective service college qualification test, will be offered on or about May 1, 1958, he said. Students passing the tests qualify for draft deferment.

The cutback in number of tests offered results from budgetary limitatinos and the reduced demand on selective service for inductees into the armed forces, Col. Drath said. He also noted that for the past two years, no men under 22 have been drafted involuntarily, and many college students have completed their schooling before that age.

Lautenschlager said his first term in the Legislature this year was something "to be treasured" and one "that I will never forget."

The 30th District takes in Hall and Merrick Counties.

Acreage Signers Dip 75%

Just 4,824 State Farmers Ink Wheat Pacts

Only 4,824 Nebraska farmers signed agreements to put land into the wheat acreage reserve program next year, Glen Umberger, state assistant to the Soil Bank administrator said.

This total is 13,192 below last year's 18,016 when 487,158 acres were placed in the wheat reserve for payments totaling $11,414,068.

This year's agreements will put 122,697 acres into the reserve for a maximum compensation of $3,017,072, Umberger said.

The county by county agreements are:

WOMEN JOB-SEEKERS IN LINCOLN OUTNUMBER MEN

Women outnumbered men in a count of job-seekers at the Lincoln office of the Nebraska State Employment Service.

September estimates by the NSES show that 56 per cent of those registered at the Lincoln office are women, with 40 per cent of this group seeking clerical work.

Glenn Jones, Lincoln office manager, reports that an increasing number of married women who have not worked for some time are seeking work in the clerical field.

Why?

Many reasons contribute to the trend, he said, and an important one is the increased cost of living which has reduced family purchasing power.

A trend toward shorter working hours for employed men and elimination of overtime has resulted in a reduction of take-home pay which housewives are attempting to supplement by going back to work.

Employment totals for the Lincoln area remained about the same as August figures, with summer-job workers leaving their positions offset by hirings caused by the re-opening of schools.

The employment total for September of 57,700 is expected to remain at about the same level until Christmas trade hiring increases in mid-November.

School reopening in September accounted for an increase of 400 jobs in the clerical, cafeteria and maintenance staffs, and service industries recorded a net gain for the month of 200 jobs. Construction employment advanced by 100 jobs, but remained about 1,000 below the Sept., 1956 total when air base housing and grain elevator construction was in progress.

September declines included farm workers, almost all temporary summer vacation and student workers.

In Seward and Saline counties, farm placements are expected to remain at a high level through October, bolstered by wheat planting and the harvest of a large milo crop.

Employment in Seward remained at a lower level as workers laid off in August were not recalled. In Crete, the letting of contracts for a new National Guard building is expected to increase construction employment.

Cruelty Admitted

LYNWOOD, Calif. (INS)— A Lynwood man admitted he tried to get rid of a cat by pouring lighter fluid on it and setting it on fire.

R. H. Moore, 27, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to charges of malicious mischief and cruelty to animals. He was released on $200 bail, with Oct. 30 set for probation hearing and sentence.

Faubus: Only Solution Is Negroes' Withdrawal

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said Wednesday the only solution to the Little Rock integration crisis is withdrawal of nine Negroes from Central High School.

Six Negro girls and three boys are attending integrated classes under protection of federal troops sent into Little Rock Sept. 24 by President Eisenhower. Faubus has demanded—and the White House refused—withdrawal of the soldiers.

The governor called withdrawal of the Negroes from school the core of a "cooling off" plan he espouses as a solution to the great integration crisis. He said:

"We need a chance for tenseness to be allayed, time for litigation and time for the people to accept peacefully what is being crammed down their throats at bayonet point."

In Washington, Eisenhower said he is hopeful Little Rock soon will have the situation in hand to the extent that he can withdraw the troops.

While Faubus and Eisenhower were standing firm in their positions, the nine Negroes went through another quiet day of integrated classes at Central High. The school has been outwardly serene for several days, with restlessness among its 2,000 white students apparently waning.

In a prepared statement read at his news conference, Faubus said:

"As to the troops entering the dressing rooms of the girl students, I have names, addresses and telephone numbers. I do not choose to release them at this time, because if I named the students, they would probably be expelled; if I named a teacher or teachers, they would probably be suspended or fired; and if I named soldiers, they would be danger of court-martial, even though they were carrying out at the time the orders given by their superiors."

Professional Nurses Get State Licenses

A majority of the 295 nurses who passed September examinations for professional nurse licenses will remain in Nebraska for employment in the state's hospitals. A previous story erroniously referred to the new group as practical nurses.

Helen C. Marsh, director of the State Board of Nursing, reported that 47 new professional nurses were from Lincoln, 122 from Omaha, 93 from other Nebraska communities and 33 from other states.

Lincolnites receiving professional nurse licenses are:

City Schools Yet Untouched By Flu

The Lincoln Public Schools, apparently untouched by signs of flu —Asian or otherwise—are reporting "usual absences for this time of year."

Zora Tennant, co-ordinator of attendance, said school principals Wednesday reported "no signs of an epidemic."

The office of Dr. John C. Thompson, director of health, physical education and safety for the public schools, also reported that it had received no word of flu cases.

Italian Writer Urges Sainthood For Columbus

ROME (AP)—Catholic writer Antonio D'Angelo, in the religious fortnightly Palestra Del Clero, is reviving the campaign to make a saint of Christopher Columbus. He pointed out around 900 requests for beautification of the Genoese navigator have come in the past from the Catholic episcopate. And in response to one 50 years ago from French author Count Roselly De Lorgues Pope Leo XIII issued an encyclical praising Columbus. It was 465 years ago this Saturday that Columbus made his great discovery.

'Controversy Fear Is Progress Block'

. . . NU Education Professor Tells School Boards

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Americans' fear of controversy at the local level was listed Wednesday evening as a stumbling block to community planning and progress.

Dr. Walter K. Beggs, University of Nebraska professor of history and principles of education, spoke to the banquet audience of the annual conference of Michigan Assn. of School Boards here.

Discussing how to foster better relations between the schools and communities, the Nebraskan said he believed in the standard approach: "Development of co-operation by wider involvement of people in community planning and execution."

But, he explained, there are three major stumbling blocks that first must be overcome.

Buries Issues

The fear of controversy, he said, merely buries the issues instead of bringing them out into the open.

The second stumbling block, he found, is uncertainty created when the people are not sure of what problems face them. He feels that the boards of education should sponsor public forums to dig out the real problems.

The third stumbling block was identified as confusion in the people's mind on how decisions are made. The leaders must constantly communicate with all levels and then respect the wishes and needs of the people, he said.

Rewriting School Role

He also said the American society is rewriting the role of public schools.

"Across the nation, society is turning to boards of education to serve as co-ordinating agencies to find answers and solutions to its problems."

"American people are using schools differently today. In the past, society depended on the schools to produce cultural, social, and economic elite. Today," he said, "schools are being used as an agency to enable the American people to live in the type of society they have created."

He emphasized that society, however, does not want schools or boards of education to prescribe either the nature or solution of the community problems.

"It wants a climate created so that the people of the individual communities can find a solution," he explained.

Petition Requests Jones' Release

OMAHA (AP) — Public Defender Joseph M. Lovely applied for a writ of habeas corpus Wednesday to try to release George Daniel Jones Jr., accused of murder.

Jones, 32, is charged with first degree murder in the May 29 gun slaying of Mrs. Rita CKappenman.

Lovely filed a petition in District Court alleging that Jones is "unlawfully deprived of his liberty" by Sheriff Patrick E. Corrigan.

WHAT'S WHAT IN NEWS

WE'VE fared rather well this morning, considering the news we have picked up from here and there concerning this one and that one — There's a bit of variety, too — guests, travelers, homecomers.

* * *

THE TRAVEL news we have in mind this morning involves Mrs. E. C. Ames who left Wednesday evening for Washington D. C., where she will spend a few weeks as the guest of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Drain, and her brother-in-law, Dale Drain.

* * *

THERE are numerous homecomers to mention this morning—Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eiche and Mr. and Mrs. William Burke have returned from Pelican Lake, Minn., where Mr. and Mrs. Burke were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eiche at the latter's summer home.

* * *

AND also back in town are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ellis who spent about 10 days in Minnesota. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis went first to Longville where they were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cook, and before returning home they spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. Burks Harley at their summer home at Pelican Lake.

* * *

MR. AND Mrs. Harley, by the way, will be closing their summer home later this month but before returning to Lincoln will go to South Dakota for a few days hunting.

* * *

OUR list of returnees includes the name of Mrs. Charles Carper who, so we were told, is just home from Chicago where she spent a week as the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Kevill.

* * *

WONDERED IF THE Cooks—Mr. and Mrs. George B— had returned to Lincoln or whether they might have gone to Chicago to join a group of Lincoln people who are there for an insurance meeting — Mr. and Mrs. Cook elected to return home which they did on Monday.

Additional information on the Cook family tells us that Ens. Dan Cook, who was graduated from Stanford University last June, is attending navy supply school at Athens, Ga. His brother Brad, as you probably know, is a student at Stanford.

* * *

JUST heard that Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lilly (Mitzi Moyle) and their two children, Christyn Lynn and Steven, arrived on Tuesday from Overland Park, Kan., to spend the remainder of the week as the guests of Mr. Lilly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lilly.

* * *

UNDERSTAND that Capt. and Mrs. Dean Swanson and their children, Kurt, Tommy and Kathy, will be leaving some time in November for Capt. Swanson's new Air Force assignment in London, England.

* * *

AND mention of the Swansons reminds us that Mrs. Swanson will be honored at a bridge party a week from this evening when Mrs. R. Wendell Mayfield and Mrs. Van S. Ashmun are hostesses at the home of Mrs. Mayfield.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

By ANN SOWLES AND NEAL HIGGINS

This was a week of "firsts" for the Knights. The first issue of our paper, THE SOUTHEAST CLARION, was distributed. We had our first Parents' Teachers' Students' Association meeting, and our first home football game.

★

"Meet the Team" was the theme for the PTSA meeting held in the Southeast Auditorium Thursday night. Coach Tom Gillaspie introduced the team and told a little bit about each boy's background. The band, under the direction of Mr. Paul Austin, played the songs they played at the game Saturday night. The meeting was adjourned after the cheerleaders led the Pep Club, faculty, and parents in a few yells.

★

Sherry Hoppe will be the hostess at a small dinner party for an old camp friend, Peppy Walbach. Peppy, who is from Grand Island, will be visiting Sherry for the week end.

Saturday night before the game a group of senior girls ate dinner at the home of Mary Lou Finnigsmier.

★

Surprise! Surprise! Sue Southwick was honored at a surprise hay-rack party last Saturday night by a group of her close friends. Sue, who is a sophomore at Southeast, is moving to California in the near future.

★

Many junior girls have been hard at cheerleading practice every Tuesday night after school. The varsity cheerleaders have been giving instructions to all the junior girls who want to try out for reserve cheerleader. Five reserve cheerleaders will be elected by the student body on November 23. The results of the election will be announced at the chili feed the Pep Club will give for the football team at the close of the season.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Eastborough suburb is in the news this Thursday morning—and first off we have an account of a festive event on Carol Circle. A no-hostess party was given in farewell courtesy to Mrs. Edward Cecan on Wednesday and the gathering was held at the Cecan home. Neighbors on hand for the informal evening coffee were Mrs. George Schultze, Mrs. Marvin Tomlinson, Mrs. Sidney Tingle, Mrs. James Divis and Mrs. Neil Munson. The Edward Cecans and their daughter, Pam, soon will leave to reside in Omaha.

Guests in Lincoln are Mrs. Clyde Anderson, Harvey and Lauri of Napa, Calif., who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lewis V. Noble in the suburb, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noble, Mrs. Minnie Nissen and Mrs. Lulu Noble. We understand that several courtesies have been given to compliment Mrs. Anderson—It was a week ago Sunday when Mrs. Lulu Noble entertained at a family party which turned out to be one of those delightful barbecue dinners in her home. Mrs. Noble also was hostess last Sunday evening at an informal dinner party to honor Mrs. Anderson.

And complimenting Mrs. Anderson at a coffee last week was Mrs. Harold Noble who entertained several family relatives. Mrs. Lewis Noble was another hostess last week when she entertained at a coffee to honor her house guest.

Speaking of courtesies reminds us of the birthday anniversary celebration to honor A. W. Reed which was given on Sunday when the host and hostess were Mr. Reed's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Reed. The guests for the dinner party included, in addition to the honoree and Mrs. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Prior, and their sons, Ladd, Randall, Kent and Mark; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Strauss and Terry, and the Wallace Reeds children, Barbara and Cindy.

Leaving Wednesday following a two-week visit in the suburb were Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Pioch of Detroit, Mich., who were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Haken.

Continuing on through the suburb we learn of out-of-town guests—Motoring to Lincoln on Tuesday from Portland, Me., were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Skilling who will spend two weeks as guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Skilling, Jr., and their children, Linda and David.

Host and hostess on Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Haith and the event at their home was a dinner party. Included among the guests were Mrs. Haith's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson and daughter, Nora, of Arapahoe, and her aunt, Mrs. Wencil Fielder of Denver, Colo.

Recently visiting in Eastborough were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robinson of Versailles, Mo., who were guests at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Robinson. The couple returned home on Monday.

November Bride-Elect

Miss McClaren is a medical technician at the University of Kansas Hospital.

Mr. Hruby is a former student at the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, and will resume his studies at the University next spring.

NU Faculty Women Entertain

The members of the University of Nebraska Faculty Women's Club opened their fall season of activities on Wednesday afternoon with a tea held at the home of Chancellor and Mrs. Clifford M. Hardin.

Greeting the guests were Mrs. Hardin, Mrs. Irwin L. Hathaway, club president, and Mrs. Dean W. Lancaster, and serving as chairman of the hostess committee was Mrs. Charles O. Neidt.

New Secretary Indicates Defense Costs May Rise

WASHINGTON (INS)—New Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy opened his first news conference by indicating he will not be limited by the 38 billion dollar a year ceiling established by his predecessor, Charles Wilson, on military spending.

McElroy

In a prepared statement, he said "in my opinion, economy is not incompatible with good defense."

But "some say we spend too much, some too little," and McElroy said he has not made up his mind who is right.

Disagreed

He disagreed with a statement by Wilson that no further acceleration of U.S. missiles is needed.

McElroy said no additional expenditures "of great magnitude" are contemplated yet.

With a trace of the bluntness for which Wilson was noted, McElroy said: "I think the American people are entitled to know what the hell is required to give this country an adequate defense. I hope to be the man who gets the answer for them."

On other subjects, he said:

—He has no prejudice against projects for travel to the moon. "I think we must support scientific thinking even though it is pretty speculative. If anything, you would not find me on the side of any cutback in this type of research."

Single Agency

—He has received suggestions that a single agency should be established over all missiles, but he has made no decision. He said he favors competition among the military services, especially in research and development, but realizes duplication must cease after those stages.

—He sees no chance now to "organize a program" for defense against Russia's ICBM. He said the anti-missile missile is "such a long range project" that it will be some time before information can be evaluated sufficiently to be incorporated in a program.

McElroy, former president of Procter and Gamble Soap Co., took the oath of office at a White House ceremony.

(Among members of McElroy's family attending the ceremony were his daughter and son-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. David Dimling, of Lincoln. Lt. Dimling is stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base.)

Highest Award

Just before McElroy took the oath, President Eisenhower pinned on Wilson's lapel the medal of freedom—the highest presidential award for a civilian who is not a career government employe.

Wilson held the post longer than anyone else has.

Local Exceptional Children Chapter To Meet Thursday

The Lincoln chapter of the International Council for Exceptional Chilcren will meet Thursday evening at the Public School Administration Building, 720 So. 22nd.

Fred Novak, state director of Vocational Rehabilitation Services, and Harry Hines, state director of Services for the Blind, will discuss "Rehabilitation of Types of Handicapped Individuals."

The council is composed of professional and lay people who are particularly interested in the education of exceptional children and adults. Norma Hansen, co-ordinator of speech therapy in the Lincoln Public Schools, is president of the local chapter.

No Danger

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said there is no danger to the earth if the Russian satellite falls.

"If it falls to within 100 miles of earth, it will rapidly grow red hot, its skin will melt as well as some of its interior and it will fall very rapidly from then on," Dr. Whipple said.

Mrs. Howe, 76, Funeral Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Florence Howe, 76, of 1927 So. 26th, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Hodgman-Splain, with Dr. Frank A. Court officiating.

Graveside services will be held at the Stella, Neb., Cemetery at 2 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Ward Merritt will officiate.

Mrs. Howe, who died Tuesday, was born in Humboldt and had lived in Lincoln since 1915. An active worker and supporter of the Democratic party, she had served on the executive committee of the Democratic State Central Committee in 1951.

Ranks With Sub

MOSCOW (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said the Soviet earth satellite feat ranks with operation of America's atomic submarine.

Gore made his statement after visiting the Soviet Union's atomic energy plant with other members of his Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

The Nautilus, he said "is still the world's finest example of atomic energy." While the satellite circles the globe in a space orbit without regenerated power "the Nautilus is able to circle the globe submerged but under the complete will of its commander," Gore commented.

Ray H. Hurley Services Friday

Funeral services for Ray H. Hurley, 66, of 235 So. 18th, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday at Hodgman-Splain with the Rev. Arthur Crisp officiating.

Graveside services in Lincoln Memorial Park will be conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mr. Hurley, who died Tuesday, was a native of Detroit, Mich., and had lived in Lincoln six years. He was a World War I veteran and a member of the VFW and the Order of the Purple Heart.

Surviving is his wife, Marie.

Burdette, Larsen Carry Mound Load In Series' Decider

Lew After 3rd Win Of Classic

NEW YORK (AP) — Strong-armed Lew Burdette and Perfect-Game Don Larsen have been entrusted with the tension filled chore of pitching in the final game of the 1957 World Series.

Larsen, whose perfect no-hitter made series history last year, was a jubilant Yankee Manager Casey Stengel's choice to start the deciding game.

The first thing Stengel did on entering the dressing room was to hold a conference with Jim Turner, his pitching coach. It was then he made his decision to start Larsen in the game that will decide the Series.

"I was going to pitch Ford Thursday," said Stengel, "but I had him in the bull pen those last two innings, so it probably will be Larsen, but Ford will be ready, too, if I need him."

"The reason I put Ford in the bullpen at the end was to get those left hand hitters, if we needed it. In the ninth, after Turley walked Ed Mathews, he pitched as hard as I have ever seen him throw," Stengel said.

Burdette was the last Milwaukee player to troop into the clubhouse after the sixth game. He was met at the door by Fred Haney, the manager.

"Come into my office, Lew," Haney whispered to his pitcher. "I want to talk to you."

It wasn't difficult for Burdette to guess what his manager wanted to talk to him about. The Braves had just lost a 3-2 heartbreaker to New York. That meant the series was now all square at three victories apiece and the Braves would have to try again today to capture their first world championship.

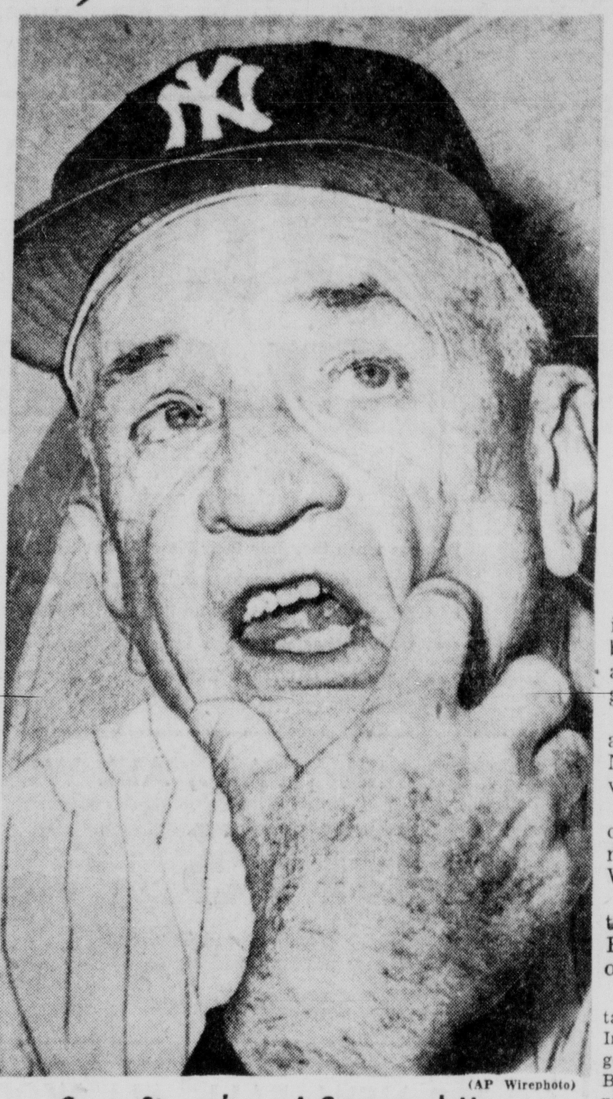

Burdette also knew that it was Warren Spahn's turn to pitch. But his old buddy was in no condition to leave his hotel room, let alone pitch. He was right now lying in bed with a fever.

"I'm ready if you want me, 'Skip,' " Lew said hardly before Haney had a chance to close the door behind them.

Haney smiled. "I knew you'd say that, Lew," he said. "You know Spahnie's still sick. You're my best bet. But you pitched a tough ball game only Monday. Can your arm take it?"

Now it was Burdette's turn to smile.

"Hell, Skip," he said in his best West Virginia drawl, "I'll have all winter to rest up."

Yanks Keep Hopes Alive With Stirring 3-2 Victory

TURLEY TIPS NL CHAMPS

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — Old Kings, like generals, find it hard to die. And so Wednesday, amid breathtaking baseball adventures, the perennial Yankees stayed alive and forced the World Series into a seventh and deciding game.

Crushed by injuries to key men like Mickey Mantle, assaulted by cannonading pretenders to the throne, the New Yorkers nevertheless came up with a stirring 3-2 victory over the Braves.

The games now stand at three apiece chiefly because of Bob Turley, a man who had known bitter defeat and rude treatment in past series history, but who came up Wednesday with a golden four-hitter.

The kings are still on top, and now a slight favorite to stay there, also because two of their oldest pros, Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer, belted home runs when only pokes of that dimension would carry the day.

Wednesday's was the tensest, tautest of the 1957 Series Games. In winning it, the Yanks had to get rid of Braves' starter Bob Buhl and give the crack relief pitcher Ernie Johnson his lumps.

Literally, the Yankees won by inches.

Bauer's game-winning home run in the seventh struck the slender strip of screening that runs down the fair side of the tall white foul pole in left. It rebounded on to the field. But rules are rules.

It had struck the screen a foot or two above Wes Covington's yearning mitt. It was 24-karat. It collapsed the 2-2 tie, prolonged the former Marine sergeant's series batting streak to a record-equalling 13 games, and reduced 61,408 fans to a bellowing drool.

As for Berra's belt in the third, it prodded home Country Slaughter (who had walked) for two-thirds of the Yankee runs. The Old Gentleman who wears the Yankee armor behind the plate, also singled in the first. His very appearance in the game set a record of 53 series games performances. His homer was the tenth such swat over that long period, tying Brooklyn's Duke Snider and the legendary Lou Gehrig. Babe Ruth leads in that phase of Series history with 15. Today thus presents Yogi the opportunity to take the undisputed second place to the all-time master.

Turley won Wednesday with an off-the-shoulder, biting, twisting, blazing fast ball and sinker that will be remembered by most of the Braves in the next and subsequent nightmares.

The big fellow pitches without a windup, disdaining the graceful backswing that generations of pitchers have used to develop their steam. He throws the ball abruptly and like a rock, and he controlled the game like a rugged rudder exerting its influence on a ship in a stormy sea.

Turley was beset by Frank Torre's fine home run in the fifth, which fell into the right field seats, and was shaken to his ankles by Hank Aaron's tremendous crack into the Braves' bull-pen in left, in the seventh.

But nobody else messed around too much with Bob out there. Torre's single with two out in the second and Eddie Mathew's firm double to right in the fourth were the only other hits the man surrendered.

Torre, a Brooklyn-born boy, was the only Milwaukee hitter who had Turley's range. In addition to his homer and single, Frank hit a decapitating liner right back at Bob in the seventh. The Yankee pitcher caught it like a clap of thunder, but strictly in self defense.

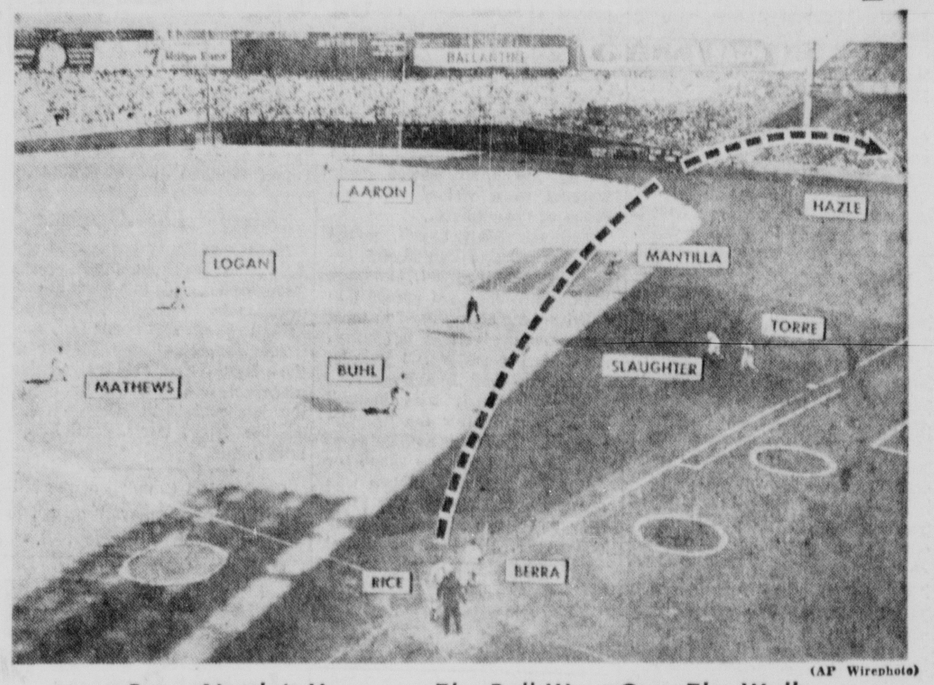

Turley dipped into fresh wells of strength at game's end. He struck out Del Rice to open the eighth, and got pinch-hitter Carl Sawatski on a grating called third strike.

Then he walked Felix Mantilla, who was replacing an injured and much-missed Red Schoendienst. It was the first of only two walks the normally wild Turley gave. But Logan was persuaded to sky out to Gil McDougald, and the eighth was over.

Turley walked Mathews to open the Braves' ninth. Braves fans called on Aaron for another massive poke. Turley struck out the National League's leading home run hitter with three pitches, the third a curve that broke like a brittle stick. Hank threw his bat down in disgust, but did not dispute the call.

Now there was Covington to contend with. Turley worked him carefully. Wes finally banged a hard grounder at him.

A shout from Jerry Coleman at second caused him to check the beginning of the double play a moment, to enable McDougald to get over to the bag. It was a quick and easy coup de grace that ended the game. Of his throw to McDougald, that started it, the happy Turley later said, "That was the best strike I threw all day."

Yank Hurler Says Mathews Toughest Milwaukee Hitter

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Bullet Bob Turley lived up to his name for seven innings Wednesday when he whipped the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, to tie the World Series for the New York Yankees.

"But I wasn't throwing any bullets in the last two or three innings," he laughed happily in the clubhouse later. "I was using a sinker mostly with some curves thrown in.

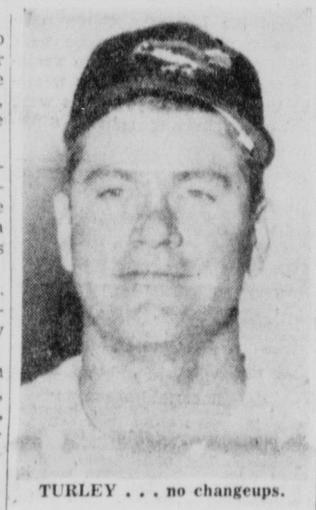

"I'll tell you one thing, though. I didn't throw a changeup the entire game. I wasn't taking any chances."

A soft-spoken righthander with muscles bulging from head to toe, Turley said this was his big one, the biggest since he started pitching, for it was the first World Series victory of his career.

"Yet," he mused, "it really wasn't tough for me. You know, I usually throw about 170 pitches in a game. Anything less and it's easy."

He threw exactly 120 pitches, which is not many even for a control—ball operative—which Turley is not.

Manager Casey Stengel was all praise for Turley although he said that he had Whitey Ford ready in the bullpen and would have put the lefty ace in had Eddie Mathews come to bat in the eighth inning. But he didn't and that saved Turley.

TURLEY . . . no changeups.

"From my standpoint, Mathews is a tougher hitter than Hank Aaron," Turley said, "because he can pull. Aaron is not a strong pull hitter although he sure pulled that home run he hit off me. But you worry about percentages in this game and the odds were all against Aaron connecting."

Then he added with a grin:

"But he sure tagged it, didn't he? He hit a bad ball, too. That would have been ball four but he reached out for it."

He said that blast Frank Torre hit right back at him in the seventh was not difficult.

"It would have knocked my head right off if it had gotten past me," he related. "But I always have my glove in position to grab the ball. And it came so fast, I didn't have time to think. It's the little bloopers that they hit back at you that can worry you."

In the fourth inning, Turley got in an animated conversation with Plate Umpire Jocko Conlan, a National Leaguer.

"I wanted to explain my windup to him," Turley said, "because with a man on third (Mathews), I didn't want to take any chances on having him call a balk. My windup is unusual, but the American League umpires are familiar with it. I just wanted to make sure Jocko was. He told me it was perfectly OK."

Turley was in such a happy mood that he didn't even try to pin the rap on Conlan when he tried to bunt with two strikes on him in the seventh. He fouled, was called out and stood staring at Conlan as though he couldn't believe it.

"All my fault," he grinned. "I didn't know I had two strikes on me. I thought Jocko had called one of the pitches I took a ball. That was the least of my worries.

CUBAN SUPPORTERS MAKE PITCH DURING 6TH GAME

NEW YORK (AP)—The sixth World Series game was interrupted briefly in the third inning Wednesday when hundreds of green leaflets were sent fluttering down on the field from the upper stads of the Yankee Stadium.

The leaflets, approximately eight by five inches, called for America to support Fidel Castro against Batista in Cuba.

Police arrested a man who was not immediately identified. The leaflets covered a large portion of the diamond near the Milwaukee dugout.

The message read:

We were late in Hungary, let's not be in Cuba!

We can help now, it's our job as Americans. Remember: A dictator is alway against American ideals, and Batista is a dictator.

Support Fidel Castro and his fight against Batista and communisms.

(Signed) American friend of Fidel Castro.

Husker Coach Has Hands Full Assembling 2-Deep Lineup

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Bill Jennings is having his hands full this week assembling even a two-deep lineup to go against powerful Pittsburgh Saturday.

With injuries and flu hampering preparations, the Husker head man has had to do a lot of juggling.

Samples: Doug Thomas who was expected to get the No. 1 left halfback job is working as the No. 2 quarterback; Dick Prusia, who has seen duty at both center and fullback, is now performing at righ end; Max Martz is playing both left end and right halfback.

At Wednesday afternoon's no-contact practice, Jennings lined up the Huskers this way:

Actually, Cook, Sandage and Naviaux are still hobbled by injuries suffered in past games and are not able to go full speed. And Smith is still somewhat shaky from a mild bout with the flu.

Left halfback and quarterback are two good examples of the juggling Jennings has had to consider.

Since Bennie Dillard, a left half, is sidelined and quarterback Harry Tolly is out of the Pitt game, Bill could:

Run Thomas, Hergenreter, George and Dean Flock at left half; use Smith, Roy Stinnett and Clyde Haskins at quarterback. Or transfer Thomas, who has worked some at quarterback, to that group.

Since Smith tangled with the flu, Bill chose to bolster the quarterbacks with the Fairbury JC hustler.

Confined at Student Health Wednesday with the flu were Jim Moore, Jerry Wheeler, Bill Hawkins and Bennie Dillard.

Released, but unable to practice, were Marlin Hilding and Jerry Petersen.

Admire Church Softball Trophy

Looking fondly at a trophy won by the First Presbyterian Church softball team this year are (left to right) pitcher Paul Kasl, who won 27 and lost 0, shortstop Lav Peterson, Beverly Pagal and Lois Waser of the girl's team, second baseman Bill Wilson, and pitcher Tom Dworak, who was 11-0. The team won 42 of 44 games in two leagues and two tournaments. (Star photo)

Miteff Surprised By 1st Round KO

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Mike DeJohn scored a first round knockout of heavily favored Alex Miteff of Argentina Wednesday night in their 10-round fight here. A rocking left hook halted the action at 1:17 of the first round.

DeJohn, who until a few months ago was a preliminary boxer, rocked the Argentinian with a shattering left hook in the early moments of the nationally televised fight.

The hook sent the previously unbeaten heavyweight to the ropes where DeJohn unleashed a strong body attack.

Miteff came off the ropes in time to catch DeJohn's looping left and he went to the canvas.

The South American got to his elbows at the six count, but could only stare in disbelief.

The victory was the 34th for the fourth brother of the fighting DeJohn family. He has been beaten three times and fought one draw. It was his 25th knockout.

Miteff, who had been installed a 4 to 1 favorite to score his 13th win, hardly landed a punch on the taller opponent.

The Argentinian was ranked eighth among the world's leading heavyweight contenders previous to the bout. DeJohn was unranked.

DeJohn, a Syracuse native, was almost as surprised as the slumping figure on the canvas.

DeJohn entered his dressing room with a bloody nose.

"I'm excited," he shouted through a maze of well wishers. "I think it was a left hook and an uppercut that did it, but my hook started things."

Miteff said in an understatement "I was surprised."

"I'd like to meet him again here," the South American said. "I thought the referee counted a little fast, but everything was all right."

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the IBC said after the fight he would seek a rematch here in November.

A crowd of 2,531 paid $5,421 to watch the fight.

Stransky Leading Rusher In Big 8

Colorado halfback Bob Stransky tops the Big Eight football individual rushing for the second straight week.

Stransky carted the ball 18 times against Kansas to gain 139 yards in a losing 35-34 effort. He now has lugged the ball 369 yards on 60 carries in 3 games.

In the No. 2 spot behind Stransky is another Colorado halfback, Eddie Dove with 219 yards.

Other individual leaders:

Hank Kuhlmann of Missouri and Dove are tied for the scoring lead with 18 points on three touchdowns apiece.

Bob Haas of Missouri has a 49.2 yard punting average. He has booted the ball five times.

Iowa State's Dwight Nichols has passed for 272 yards, connecting on 14 of 34 attempts.

Colorado leads the conference in total offense with 1,121 yards.

Defensively, Iowa State and Kansas State are tied for the lead among those teams having played three games. Both squads have allowed their opponents a total of 838 yards.

Pairings Listed For Cage Festival

NEW YORK (AP) — Defending champion Manhattan will play Dayton in the opening game of the sixth annual Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Holiday Festival basketball tournament, Dec. 26, 28, 30.

ECAC commissioner Asa S. Bushnell, announcing the pairings Wednesday, said Manhattan and Dayton would play in the first game of an afternoon doubleheader Dec. 26. Temple will play Pittsburgh in the second game.

Completing the line-up for the eight-team field, Connecticut faces Seattle and California meets New York Univ. in a doubleheader that night.

Semifinals will be played Dec. 28 and the finals on the 30th with consolation doubleheaders both days.

This will be the first Holiday Festival appearance for California, the 1956-57 Pacific Coast Conference champion, Connecticut Seattle and Pittsburgh. Manhattan defeated Notre Dame in last year's final.

6 Notre Dame Starters, 2 Others Down With Flu

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Six Notre Dame starters and two second stringers were confined to bed with the flu Wednesday night and Coach Terry Brennan said his team was "hurt badly" for Saturday's game with Army at Philadelphia.

Brennan also said others on the squad showed symptoms of the flu as the Irish slowed their workout to a virtual walk because of the ailment.

Halfback Dick Lynch, guard Jim Schaaf, end Gary Myers, co-captain Ed Sullivan, fullback Nick Pietrosante and center Bob Scholtz were all confined to their rooms or the college infirmary. Also abed were No. 2 guards, Dave Hurd and Bob Gaydos.

"We are hurt, hurt badly," Brennan said after the practice session. "There is no likelihood that we will be in top shape for Army although all the men who are down with the flu now probably will make the trip."

However, Joe Bride, assistant sport publicitor at the school, said the present flu epidemic was believed to be of the "24-hour variety." Team or school physicians have not diagnosed it as Asian Flu.

Bride also said it was expected there would be no change in traveling plans for the renewal game of the Army series at Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia.

Catcher Del Crandall of the Milwaukee Braves played only two seasons of minor league ball.

Michigan St. Tops Nation In Rushing

By The Associoted Press

Michigan State throws the nation's best rushing offense against Michigan in their traditional battle Saturday which may decide the Big Ten football championship.

Statistics put out by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau Wednesday show that the versatile Spartans have rolled up an average of 348.5 yards a game against their first two foes.

In passing they've been less active and less adept, completing 25 of 40 for 162.5 yards average. Nevertheless this has been good enough to project the Michigan Staters into second place in the total offense standings among major elevens, just back of Iowa.

Iowa, the passing team leader and sixth in rushing, leads the notion with an average of 518.5 a game, with Michigan State second with 511.

Other total offense pace-setters include: Rice, third, with 499; Wisconsin, fourth, with 471; Princeton, fifth, with 445.

Iowa has completed 16 of 31 passes for 412 yards, or an average of 206 a game. Four have been for touchdowns. Rice is the second best in the air, statistically, with a 22-34 mark and a 20-yard average.

The second best rushing team, behind Michigan State, is Wisconsin, with an average of 345 yards. Then comes Army, with a 325-yard ground-gaining average to fling at Notre Dame in their big game Saturday at Philadelphia.

Meanwhile, Princeton has supplanted Iowa of the Western Conference as the defensive team leader, limiting two opponents to an average of 116.5 yards per game. Auburn follows with a 120-yard average and Georgia Tech is next with 122.5. Notre Dame, which has held Purdue and Indiana scoreless in its first two games, is fourth defensively with 138-yard overage yield.

Princeton is tops in defending on the ground while Mississippi State has the best record in defending against passes. Tennessee is the country's top kicking team with a 42.3-yard average.

Hastings Reserves Beat LH Reserves

HASTINGS — The Hastings Reserves, coupling good football with two long scoring runs and a touchdown pass, Wednesday blanked the Lincoln High Reserves 18-0.

Steve DeBrown punted well and displayed some good running for the losers.

Magicians Feature Skilled Basketball

Despite their trademark, clowning, the Harlem Magicians are world-famed as the most skilled group of basketball players ever assembled in one unit, led by dribbler Marques Haynes and pivot man Josh Crider.

The Magicians appear here at Pershing Municipal Auditorium Oct. 20 against the Boston Shamrocks.

Crider has gained renown for his clowning, but is also the high scorer on a team which seldom loses. Haynes' dribbling act is always the highlight of the play by the team.

Loop Prexy Says 'End Is At Hand'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Pacific Coast League — a sturdy old institution that incubates major league stars—is teetering before the only force that could ever wreck it: progress.

Its president, Leslie O'Connor, concedes that the time to call in the obituary writers is at hand. The transfer of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants to the coast, he says, means "the end of the PCL."

O'Connor may have overestimated the weight of the crisis. But, even so, it is apparent that the PCL is in line for a drastic realignment at best. And with Los Angeles, Hollywood and San Francisco gone—and maybe San Diego and Sacramento too—the king of the minors will be a tattered ruler, one step or less from exile.

The coast league, born in 1903, became the highest ranked institution ouside the majors in 1952, when it was given open classification, a notch above triple-A.

There was talk that this was the first step toward achievement of major league classification.

It was just talk. The fans already had started to let the post-war gate down.

They had come to coast league games bumper-to-bumper right after the war. It was the PCL that established an all-time record for minor league attendance by drawing 4,068,432 paid fans in 1947.

Bowmen Kill 46 Deer

LINCOLN (AP) — The number of deer killed by bow and arrow in Nebraska this season has reached the 46 mark — already 18 more than were taken during the 1956 season.

That's a success score of about seven per cent for some 600 archers pursuing the animals this season.

This year's hunt started Sept. 7 and closes Oct. 31. Archery permits are still available from the Game Commission Headquarters in Lincoln.

Three women are among the most recent group of successful archers to report to the Game Commission. They are Betty Paulhamus and Betty C. Joseph, both of Valentine, and Marilyn Hathaway of Union.

What is probably the biggest deer taken to date is the 250-pound mule buck shot by Richard J. Robinson of Grand Island. Place of the kill was near Chapman on the Platte River.

Other successful hunters include: Duane Kuhnel, Crawford; Richard Mauch, Bassett; Ronald O. Brown, Ogallala; Howard D. Gauser, Stratton; J. K. Schleiger, Lincoln; John Cox, North Platte; Morris W. Hill, Millburn; B. S. Lyon, Lincoln; Seth C. Sritzler, Lone Pine; Howard Dodd, Crawford; Charles Morris, Crawford; Marshal Knobel, Elm Creek Richard S. Brion, Neligh; James Fraser, Harrison; John Stark, Beatrice; George E. Sturek, Bartlett; Bruce A. Paulhamus, Valentine; Gerald L. Haines, Ceresco; Laurel Nelson, Davey.

Omaha Acquires Kuzava, 2 Others

OMAHA (AP) — The Omaha Cardinals have acquired three players through a trade with the St. Louis Cardinals.

In a trade involving five men, Omaha will receive left-handed pitcher Bob Kuzava, first baseman Tom Alston, and second baseman Ron Plaza.

Omaha will surrender outfielder Jim Frey, and William Smith, a pitcher acquired from Columbus of the Sally League.

Kuzava, 34, began the 1957 baseball season with Pittsburgh of the National League and was later sent to Columbus, Ohio, of the International League where he compiled eight wins and one defeat.

Alston did not play most of the 1957 season with St. Louis due to a physical ailment.

Plaza, 26, played the 1957 season with Rochester of the International League.

NAVY COACH SAYS LOSS HIS FAULT

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Coach Erdelatz Wednesday blamed himself for Navy's 13-7 upset loss to North Carolina last week end and predicted his Middies would fare better now that the pressure is off them.

"We're more relaxed this week and should get a good effort Saturday," the coach said as his team prepared to wind up home practice and head for a West Coast engagement against California.

"I think I had them too high for the Carolina game," he told a weekly news conference.

"They were afraid to make any mistakes and as a result we were fumbling punts, kickoffs, handoffs and just dropping the ball when running with it."

He said they also had the pressure of a "high national ranking and trying to live up to it." Navy was rated sixth nationally before Coach Jim Tatum's Tar Heels stopped them after two easy opening victories.

Coach Jerry Bush opens basketball practice at the University of Nebraska Tuesday, October 15.

Pittsburgh Liked To Beat NU

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The Russian satellite — around and around she goes and where she stops, nobody knows.

The same is true of football picks which last week showed an atrocious score of 30-13. But that's the way the moon bounces.

Today's "beep beeps" from outer space:

Army 7 Notre Dame 0: Two great running attacks collide here but defenses prevail in a bitter game.

Michigan 20 Michigan State 14: the Spartans have the depth but the desire advantage to the Wolverines on their home field.

Arkansas 15 Baylor 12: The Bears from Waco, Tex., don't react from last week's loss to Miami.

Rice 14 Duke 7: The Blue Devils probably favored here but an edge to the Owls on a sheer hunch.

Oklahoma 34 Texas 14: The Sooners roll to No. 43 in their unbroken string.

Princeton 20 Penn 0: The single wing attack of the Tigers buries Steve Sebo's multiple offense.

Stanford 14 Washington State 7: The Rose Bowl bid may hinge on this one. Stanford has greater depth and versatility.

Texas A&M 21 Houston 6: Coach Bear Bryant's teams are always lean and hard, and mean.

Navy 18 California 7: The Midshipmen bounce back from last week's loss to North Carolina.

Ohio State 20 Illinois 14: Home cooking spurs the Buckeyes to superior heights.

N.Y. CONGRESSMAN RAPS MAYOR FOR TEAMS' SHIFT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Keating (R-NY) said Wednesday New York has been stripped of its two National League baseball teams because the city's Mayor Wagner "fumbled the ball."

Keating also charged again that baseball has received "excessive and misguided bludgeoning" from some members of Congress.

Keating, senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, attacked Democratic Mayor Wagner and those he called "baseball-badgerers" in Congress in a caustic statement on the Brooklyn Dodgers' decision to shift to Los Angeles.

The New York Giants previously announced they will move to San Francisco next season.

Keating said Wagner, who is seeking reelection as mayor, "should not have waited until there were two out in the ninth and three-and-two on the batter before initiating action."

Wagner said Tuesday he would form a committee in the next few days to get another National League team into New York, now monopolized by the American League's Yankees.

Keating also contended "arguments of the baseball-baiters who have hollered so long and loud about the so-called 'Eastern monopoly' of major league baseball and have used it as a weapon to threaten placing every aspect of the sport under the antitrust laws are now shown conclusively to be fallacious."

He said the Dodger and Giant transfers illustrate "more free competition between cities for major league baseball teams than the congressional baseball-badgers would have us believe."

Keating said baseball and other professional team sports need "special and unique legislation." He has proposed applying federal antitrust laws to commercial phases of sports, such as television and concessions, but exempting the game aspects.

Heffelfinger Carter

Lonnie Johnson and Bob Heffelfinger and fullback Don Carter as Wesleyan captains for the important Nebraska College Conference tussle which will be played at Hastings.

Each of the three Plainsman leaders has rated plaudits from members of the coaching staff for "steadily improved play," this season.

Johnson, a sophomore from Rosalie, is the number one signal caller. Heffelfinger, Lincoln junior, guides the No. 2 outfit.

Carter, senior from Atkinson, Kan., probably will get his first starting call against the Broncos Saturday.

Bird Dog Club Holds Field Trial

The Husker Bird Dog Club will hold its 19th semi-annual field trial Saturday and Sunday four miles south and one mile east of Denton.

From 60 to 70 top pointing dogs from six to seven states are expected to participate, according to Richard Armstrong, club secretary.

Drawing time, Armstrong said, will be at 9 p.m. Friday, with entries also closing at that time.

Judges will be Jack Bowden of Overland Park, Kan., and Earl Fizer of Kansas City, Mo.

Stakes include amateur puppy, amateur derby, amateur all age, and members shooting dog.

Back-Of-Week Honors Stamp Out Gopher's Booing Memory

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's Dick Larson had to wait a year for the right moment to stamp out the memory of a heartbreaking booing.

He did it in glittering style against Purdue Saturday, and today it won for him selection as The Associated Press back of the week.

"I wouldn't be human if I didn't keep thinking about what happened last year in the Illinois game," the popular Gopher No. 2 quarterback said. "In the days afterward I'd try to study but my thoughts kept going back to those boos. It bothered me the more I thought about it."

The experience was a cruel one for a player who has been one of Minnesota's most reliable since his sophomore season. The boos rolled through Memorial Stadium when Coach Murray Warmath relieved the platoon Bobby Cox was guiding and sent in Larson's.

Cox was having a tremendous day and the boo birds wanted him to stay in. No one was more sympathetic in the lockeroom afterwards than Cox, a roommate and personal friend of the second string quarterback.

Against Purdue last week, the situation reversed itself, although there was no booing. Cox, the gifted All-America candidate, had trouble moving the club and it was left to Larson to pull the team through in the face of an upset threat.

The 169-pound Minneapolis senior got started with a 72-yard punt runback for a touchdown, passed 16 yards to Bill Chorske for another and scored the clincher in a 21-17 victory on a five-yard sweep.

Larson remains the No. 2 quarterback, however, and it isn't causing him any loss of sleep. "I'm satisfied where I am," he said, "there's no difference between the first and second platoons. Cox is a fine football player. I had a good day Saturday, and he'll probably do as well the next time out."

Other backs mentioned for outstanding play last week around the country included Billy Cannon of Louisiana State, King Hill of Rice, Alex Hawkins of Ohio State Ray Nischke and Tom Haller of Illinois, Dave Bourland of Army and Jim Bakhtiar of Virginia Tech.

Rassling Opens Oct. 31

Tom Novak plans to open his winter season of rassling at the State Faiar Grounds Oct. 31, with plans underway to get Verne Gagne and Wilbur Snyder at the headliners. Boris and Nicolai, a couple of Russians who caused a near riot here last year, are also in the plans for the first show.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

The backyard barbecue is the measure of social success in our town. I am pleased to report that Prince Philip has been burning the meat lately in the backyard of Balmoral Castle.

"It is one of his favorite outdoor pastimes," said the British reporter. "He cooked sausages and steaks and burned only one small piece of meat."

This is a good record. I usually burn my hand. I hope Prince Philip has a complete outfit like mine—a chef's cap, an apron with funny sayings, a paint brush to brush on the barbecue sauce and a cast-iron holder to hold the martini. (Outdoor chefs should have three hands. But you cannot have everything, I guess.)

☆ ☆ ☆

We have progressed wonderfully out of the indoor, all-electric kitchen to the outdoor barbecue. I wish my great-grandpa was around to see it.

Grandpa dug gold around Fiddletown in 1850. He spent three years on the outdoor barbecue work and he got mighty sick of it.

"I did not know whether I had mountain fever or homesickness," he wrote. "All I could think about was mother's kitchen down lower Big Creek in Clark county, Illinois.

"I thought of ham and eggs, chicken pot-pie, maple molasses, buckwheat cakes and fresh butter, custard pie, pound cake and whipped cream."

At the time, grandpa was whipping up dinner in the most social outdoor barbecue style. He cooked outdoors for three years and got powerfully fed up with it.

I think grandpa would have been a very stylish cook today. Very few of us cook in the house these days. Only when it rains.

All our houses have built-in barbecues in the backyard. In the more elegant scatters they have a maid's barbecue, too.

The barbecue is made of brick. It has electric attachments with a long cord running from the house window. You push one button and the roast revolves.

You push another button to make the spit go up and down.

☆ ☆ ☆

We also keep a sprinkling can handy. I wonder if Prince Philip knows this? I do not think so.

"He burned only one small piece of meat," says the dispatch from England.

When the charcoal blazes up, we fling water on the fire. That is the way we keep from burning the meat, Prince. This makes a lot of smoke. The cook comes out of this cloud like a genie out of a magic bottle. His eyes water.

"Be done in another five minutes," he says. How he can tell in the smoke screen is beyond me.

Anyway, we could not get along without this outdoor cooking. And I am glad to see royalty taking it up. The Prince also ate the sausages with his fingers, says the British correspondent.

I imagine he did this by choice. A castle is probably filled with knives and forks what with never knowing when another King or Queen will drop in for dinner. But the Prince ate with his fingers.

Grandpa would have been amazed. When I was a boy, he was very fond of fried chicken. Grandma cooked it on a stove. In the house. It worked just fine and turned out wonderfully.

'Methodists Seem To Be Wanderers'

. . . Willson Lecturer Tells Wesleyan Audience

"The danger to which Methodism has too frequently succumbed is in embracing theologies foreign to her basic assumptions and in accepting these as background. It is for this reason largely that we have seemed to many to have been wanderers on the face of the theological world."

This statement was made Wednesday night by Dr. Umphrey Lee, noted Methodist historian who is conducting the annual series of Willson Lectures at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Speaking on the subject, "Do Methodists Have a Theology?" Dr. Lee said: "John Wesley has been interpreted as a reviver of Catholic doctrine, as a man who restated the essential Reformation doctrines, as a herald of the so-called liberalism of the nineteenth century, as all things to all men."

Historians Overlook Fact

"The the one thing some Methodist historians have overlooked is the fact that John Wesley lived a long time."

Dr. Lee explained that one such historian paused after branding Wesley as being critical of "one of the worthies of the previous generation, Bishop George Bull."

"Wesley did criticize him, but what escaped the historian's eye was that four year's later Wesley was using Bishop Bull's argument. And thirty years later Wesley frankly admitted that Bull's distinction had frankly become part of Wesley's theological framework."

"This simply means that Wesley reviewed and sometimes corrected former positions in the light of his own experience and knowledge or in consideration of the experiences and statements of others."

Respected Experience

The Wesleyan Willson lecturer also said that Wesley had a profound respect for experience.

"Believing as he did that experience is one criterion by which doctrines are to be checked, Wesley allowed himself at later times to correct statements that were obviously too broad," Dr. Lee said.

Dr. Lee also pointed out that "the notion that peace of mind is not something that the Christian can truly strive for is certainly not Methodist."

Dr. Lee will conclude his lectures Thursday morning when he discusses "The Nature of Methodism," at 10 a.m. in C. C. White Auditorium on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus.

COUNCIL FIRE PLAN MEETING FRIDAY

The special meeting of the City Council and directors on the proposed Lincoln fire protection improvement plan to regain a Class 4 rating is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Friday.

Mayor Bennett Martin said initial approval on a number of items would be sought so that the city's proposals could be submitted Tuesday to the Nebraska Inspection Bureau and the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

In allowing Lincoln until Jan. 1 to make improvements, the inspection bureau asked the city to submit its plans by next Tuesday.

Major items being considered are a new fire station at 17th and Van Dorn, additional firemen, and early completion of the city's $8.5 million water improvement program, but Martin said "additional items" would also be presented Friday.

Friday's meeting is to coordinate the proposed plan for approval at Council's regular meeting Monday.

Martin said the approved plans would be taken by a city delegation Tuesday to the inspection bureau at Omaha, where last week city officials held a point-by-point discussion on the city's needs with fire rating officials there.

A Little Hooter

SCOTCH LAKE, N. S. (AP)—Mrs. Jack MacDonald celebrated her 101st birthday this week by dancing and appearing on TV. In answer to the inevitable question she said: "A good appetite, lots of milk and hard work" and now and then a "little hooter." A little hooter is a slug of whisky.

Nebraska Enters Nuclear Age . . .
CONSUMERS TO BUILD ATOMIC POWER PLANT
Hallam Site Chosen for New Nuclear Reactor Generating Station

Welcome, Mr. Atom, to Nebraska

ATOMS FOR POWER: Nebraskans, continuing to use increasing amounts of electricity in the home, in business and industry, and on the farm, must have an additional source of supply by 1960—a supply over and above that furnished by the plants now being built or planned in the state. Consumers' new 100,000 kilowatt plant at Hallam will be a big factor in meeting these needs—first with conventional facilities to be completed in 1960, then with the nuclear reactor facilities scheduled for completion in 1961. With Atomic Energy Commission participation, the cost of this power to Consumers' customers will be in line with that produced by conventional generators.

ATOMS FOR PAYROLLS: Scores of applications—in food processing, in many types of manufacturing, in agriculture, in medicine, in research and education—are now being made with the radio-active by-products of nuclear reactor power generation. It is certain that industries wanting to use these by-products will be looking for plant sites and other commercial opportunities in Nebraska during and after the construction of the Hallam plant, directly contributing to greater industrialization in the state.

ATOMS FOR PEACE and PROGRESS: The increasing use of the atom for constructive purposes will continue to help the Unted States to remain strong, and will make important contributions to world peace and progress. Nebraska, as the site of a nuclear reactor power plant, will have a major role in this program, and will become a center of world-wide atomic research.

Senator Kennedy:

Greatest Challenge Is Economic One

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) Wednesday night said "harsh facts" show the great challenge to America's status and security "may be neither military, nor political, but economic."

"The most critical problem in this economic sphere is the problem of the underdeveloped nations," he said in an address to the Economic Club.

"While this is thought to be an age of prosperity and abundance," he said, "the harsh facts of the matter are than, in the midst of this age of plenty, the standard of living for much of the world is declining, their poverty and economic backwardness are increasing and their share of the world's population is growing."

More Poverty, Too

He added: "There may be more prosperity in the world than ever before, but, strange as it may seem, there is also more poverty than at any time in the history of this planet."

He stated that the gap between developed and under-developed countries is growing greater, instead of less.

The danger posed by this gap "is not simply a matter of economics," he said, "it is a matter of war nad peace, of national security, of stopping the advance of Communism."

Four Reasons

Kennedy said the four reasons why "economics text-book" solutions have failed to work out are a "population explosion," inflation, shortage of foreign exchange resources and an "unprecedented use of available capital in our own country and in western Europe."

He also said it "is imperative that this nation and its leaders re-examine our entire concept of foreign aid." He explained:

"A new emphasis is needed, a new approach to our foreign connomic relations in place of foreign aid as it is now constituted. We need now a program of investment —never too large, for their capacity to absorb is small — for the underdeveloped areas of the world, a program which would act as 'seed' capital to provate investment, both from this country and from Europe."

Station Attacked

LISBON (AP) — A band of armed men from India attacked the frontier customs station at Suponogudi in Portuguese Goa, a communique said.

Grandmother, 74, Wheels Boy, 12, From Mountain

BAT CAVE, N.C. (AP)—A 74-year-old woman pushed a wheelbarrow a half mile up and down a steep, rugged mountainside Wednesday to rescue her grandson who had been wounded by a shotgun.

The boy, 12-year-old Tony Glenn Lyda, was wounded when his gun accidentally discharged. Hit in the leg, he was bleeding profusely and collapsed.

Three other youngsters with him raced down the mountain and informed their grandmother, Mrs. Lexie Lyda. The elderly woman pushed the heavy wheelbarrow up the mountain, put the lad in it and wheeled him home. A neighbor took the boy to a hospital, where he is expected to recover.

Interest Rates Likely To Remain Up, Says Realtor

OMAHA (AP) — More mortgage money may become available to home builders gradually but interest rates probably won't go down, the president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards said.

Kenneth S. Keyes of Miami, Fla., who was in Omaha to address the Omaha Real Estate Board, said the signs he noted were that "big industries have slowed down their capital outlays. Business loans by New York banks have dropped since July, normally a period when bank loans increase. All this may mean more money will be available for investment in mortgages.

NU Faculty Senate Asks Committee Report On Mitchell Case On Nov. 12

The liaison committee of the University of Nebraska Faculty Senate has been requested by the Senate to submit a report at the next Senate meeting— Nov. 12—on its study findings in the Dr. C. Clyde Mitchell case.

The liaison committee report, according to Dr. Harry L. Weaver, chairman of the committee, will be based on the study of a June report of the committee on academic tenure and privileges, which substantiated three of eight allegations by Dr. Mitchell concerning abridgment of his academic freedom.

Dr. Mitchell was relieved of his duties as chairman of the department of agricultural economics in 1956.

Recommendations

Dr. Weaver said the report may contain recommendations of a general nature on possible modification of University rules and regulations.

In other Faculty Senate action, James Blackman, professor of engineering mechanics, was re-elected Senate secretary for a third term; and voting was held for two new members of the committee on committees. Results of the balloting will be announced soon, Blackman said.

Jane Stewart, chairman of the committee on student loans, reported that the Student Loan Service has made 838 loans totalling approximately $118,000, in the past year. Of these, 584 were emergency loans totalling $41,000. These loans are limited to $125.

Student loans were up 33 per cent over the previous year, Miss Stewart reported.

Crawford Youth Killed At Rail Crossing

Body Thrown From Vehicle

CRAWFORD, Neb. (AP) — William Culler, about 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Culler of Crawford, was killed in a collision of his car and a freight train six miles northwest of Crawford Wednesday morning.

Investigators said the collision occurred at the Horn Crossing where Highway 20 crosses the Burlington Railroad tracks.

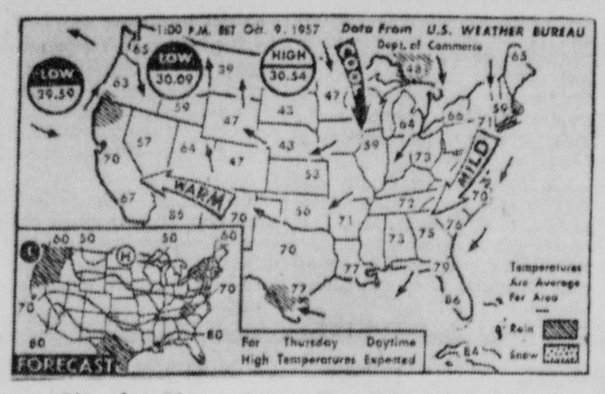

Cullers' car was carried 2,285 feet and his body was found about 600 feet from the car. There was no immediate report on the circumstances that put his car in front of a Burlington freight train.

Delayed Fatality Report

Meanwhile, a delayed report of a traffic death at Omaha was added to the 1957 Nebraska highway fatalities.

Director Robert Pease in Lincoln said the accident bureau had been advised of the death in an Omaha hospital Sept. 18 of Robert J. Grace, 48, of Omaha.

Grace was injured Aug. 13 when he fell asleep while driving a pickup truck about a half mile south of Omaha, Pease said. The truck left the road at a point on 36th street, just south of the Omaha city limits in Sarpy County. Grace suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.

Cloudy Skies Seen For Most Of U.S.

Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected Thursday for the greater part of the U. S. except for rain in western New York and Pennsylvania, eastern Tennessee, southeastern Florida, southern Texas and in the northwest Pacific area. It will be cooler from New England southwest through the Ohio Valley to the lower Mississippi Valley; warmer in the northern Plains and along the eastern slopes of the Rockies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Weather One Of Man's Most Difficult Problems—Namias

OMAHA (AP) — Man has lived with weather since Adam but he still doesn't know very much about it.

How can this be?

It's the complexity of the problem, says Jerome Namias of Washington who is in charge of extended forecasting for the United States weather bureau.

Namias was a speaker Wednesday at the national conference on upper air being held by the American Meteorological Society.

Namias called weather one of man's most difficult problems.

Short range forecasting, where the complexities are less, is pretty good, he said. In long range forecasting—5 to 30 days—"We have enough skill to make it economically worthwhile.

Just the same, making forecasts which frequently depend on storms thousands of miles away but which haven't even occurred yet, is a tough nut to crack.

The weather scientists have found a major tool in the computer—the electronic brain—both for their research and in solving day to day problems, he said.

For the last couple of years, he explained, 24 to 48 hour forecasts have been worked out by computers from wind patterns aloft.

The upper air winds are a major concern of the meteorological society meeting here. The meeting, one of a number the society will hold throughout the nation this year, was called specifically to share information on weather's effects on jet flying.

Omahan Dies As Mail Train, Truck Collide

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A Nebraska truck driver was killed Wednesday when his tractor-trailer was hit by a speeding Baltimore and Ohio Mail Train at the West Wilbeth Road Crossing. The victim was identified as Henry Miller, 57, of Omaha.

The train crew said Miller's truck slowed for the crossing and the speeded up at the last moment. The train struck the rear of the trailer which flipped over on the tractor's cab, crushing Miller.

Leaders To Set 'We Shake Hands' Winter Projects

Lincoln Star Special

WINNEBAGO, Neb. — Tribal leaders of the Winnebago and Omaha Indians will meet here Friday night with non-Indian leaders from Nebraska to set the winter's activities in the "We Shake Hands" project.

The project is described as "an action" to improve the relations of Indians and non-Indians.

Besides Indian leaders, the Friday night conference will include members of the Lincoln Indian Relations Council, clergymen and other leaders from communities near the Winnebago and Omaha reservations, officials of the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs and representatives of the Nebraska League of Women Voters.

Host to the event is the Winnebago Indian tribe.

Nebraska's Beet Acreage Is Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has allocated Nebraska 63,892 acres for production of a 1958 domestic sugar beet crop compred with 65,657 acres this year.

The decrease reflects a national cut in allotments designed to hold production within quotas set under a sugar control program aimed at stabilizing prices and supplies.

World's Fastest Human To Speak At Clinical Meet

OMAHA (AP)—Col. John P. Stapp, famed as the world's fastest human, will speak at the 25th annual meeting of the Omaha-Midwest Clinical Society Nov. 4-7.

The Air Force colonel will talk on the opening program and at the evening meeting of the second day.

Col. Stapp will report on the recent balloon ascension in which an Air Force officer rose to 90,000 feet.

He will also speak on the human body's tolerance to injury and blows from mechanical forces and supersonic windblast.

Memorial Services Conducted For Mrs. Miller, 36

Memorial services were held in Lincoln for Mrs. Scott A. Miller Jr., 36, former Nebraskan who died in Lincoln. Further services and burial were at Broken Bow.

Mrs. Miller was graduated from Berwyn High School and from Hastings College cum laude. She took graduate work at the University of Nebraska where she taught under a fellowship.

A resident of Durham, N.H., for the past four years, she was an active member of the Community Church of Durham, a member of the AAUW and affiliated with the Order of the Eastern Star, Myrtle Chapter at Lincoln.

At the time of Mrs. Miller's death, the family was in the process of moving from Durham to Phoenix, Ariz., where her husband is beginning work with the USDA at the University of Arizona.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. Scott A. Miller Jr.; a daughter, Janene, 5; a son, Scotty, 2; her parents, Mr and Mrs. Elmer Nelsen, Berwyn; two sisters, Mrs. C. Dale Baker, Broken Bow, and Mrs. W. W. Bartels, Lincoln; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nelsen and Abner Martin, all of Berwyn.

Sumner Baby Dies In Fall

SUMNER, Neb. — Funeral services were held here for Lisa Marie Roper, three and a half month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zale Roper, who suffered a concussion in a fall. The baby fell from her bassinet at her farm home near Sumner.

Surviving in addition to the parents are four brothers, Perry, Larry, Denny and Timmy; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Roper of Sumner; and a great grandmother, Mrs. Susan Bowden of Lexington.

Two Rural School Buildings To Be Sold

ELYRIA, Neb. —The rural school buildings in districts consolidated with District 63 at Elyria will be be sold at auction Thursday.

County Supt. Fred Appleget said rural enrollment in Valley County is down 72 this year, and that there are 19 less districts than in 1952.

'Pre-Wetting' Road Building Method Eyed

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP)—A Holdrege firm is pioneering a road construction technique which has attracted interest in several states.

The technique is called "pre-wetting" and it simply means that the dirt used to fill grades and other sections of a highway roadbed that has to be built up, is wet down before it is excavated instead of after it is put in place.

This method eliminates the use of sprinkler trucks in the area where rollers and graders are at work, cuts down the traffic jam, and makes it possible to determine that the amount of moisture is correct for a good fill.

Industrial Pipelines of Holdrege pioneered this teachnique on a Wyoming state highway project last year and Wyoming officials were elated with the results. Since then Colorado and New Mexico highway officials have adopted the method.

Also Used for Dams

Industrial Pipelines takes over the area in which the fill dirt is to be excavated, studies the moisture content of the soil and sets up a pattern of quick-coupling aluminum pipe and sprinklers in the area.

Then the correct amount of water needed is calculated and applied. After that the dirt is taken to the construction site.

A somewhat similar method has been used in construction of earthen dams, but Industrial Pipelines may be the first to have applied it to highway construction.

Wheat Under Support Program Dropping Off

WASHINGTON (AP)— Because of relatively favorable market prices, farmers are placing the smallest quantity of wheat under government price support programs since 1948.

Nebraska had 9,001,000 bushels under support on Sept. 15. Only Kansas, with 24,127,000 and Texas with 10,646,000 had more.

Bartender Charged With Slaying Estranged Wife

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—A murder charge was filed Wednesday against an Omaha bartender who told police he shot his estranged wife to death during the noon rush at the downtown department store where she worked.

Jodie Bob Crook, 29, walked into the Minnehaha County jail office with a suitcase a few minutes later and told jailer Marvin Noteboom "I just shot my wife."

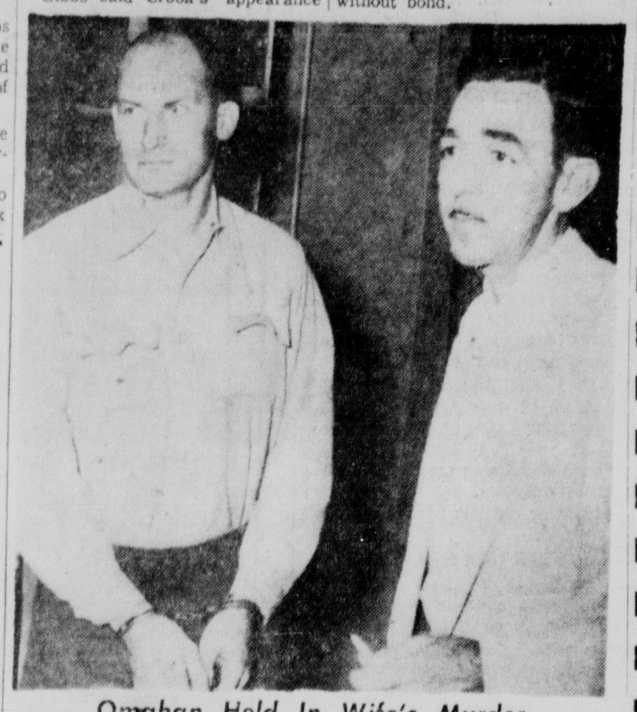

June M. Crook, 32, was found lying on a stairway landing between the third and fourth floors of the J. C. Penney department store.

State's Attorney Frank Gibbs said a post mortem showed she had been shot once in the head and twice in the upper portion of her body.

Mrs. Crook, the mother of three small children, lived with her parents in Chancellor, near here.

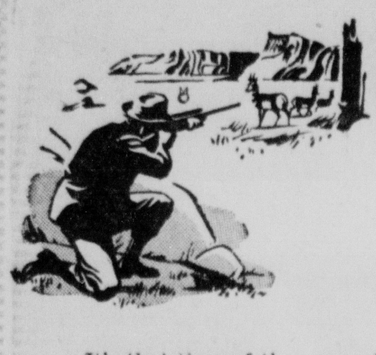

Acquaintances, who declined to give their names, said Mrs. Crook told of being pestered by her husband over a divorce they said would be final Saturday.

Gibbs said Crook's appearance in municipal court was set for Friday to allow for appointment of counsel. He said Crook is held without bond.

Subsidy Hike Predicted For Airlines With Local Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal subsidy tab for local service airlines is expected to go up when grants are made by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) in the seven-states case.

Just how much the increase will be is uncertain at this point but it's estimated that all the proposals would cost the government about five million dollars.

Some of the proposals in the case involving air service in Illinois, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin undoubtedly will be rejected.

So the final subsidy increase should be under the five-million-dollar figure.

Decision Pending

The total subsidy bill for all local service lines in the country in 1956 was about 25 million dollars.

CAB Examiner Curtis C. Henderson currently is working on his recommended decision in the seven-states case. There is no indication when it will be ready.

"I'm working on it and hope to get it out as soon as possible," Henderson says.

Six airlines are involved in the seven-states case. Two of these, Braniff and Western, are trunk lines. The others Central, Frontier, Ozark and North Central are local service or feeder lines.

Involved in the case is the question of suspension of some service by Braniff, Western and United.

Knowland Sees Some Satellite Reorganization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Russia's success in launching history's first artificial earth satellite may call for "some reorganization" of the U.S. satellite program, Senate minority leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif) told newsmen Wednesday.

While American scientists have kept this nation in the forefront of the world weapons race up until now, Russia is clearly the leader in the missile contest, Knowland said.

"We would like to make sure," the Republican candidate for the California GOP gubernatorial nomination said, "that it never happens again."

Knowland, who was heir to the Senate Republican leadership mantle from the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), said he has no personal knowledge of a rift between the groups working on the U.S. satellite program which might have given Russia the time edge.

The GOP Senate leader was in Columbus to be principal speaker for a state Republican fund-raising dinner.

Reaction

Pressed on his possible reaction to a GOP nomination for President in 1960, Knowland protested that he had—with one exception, when he entered the armed services during World War II—fulfilled every "contract" with California voters.

But he finally conceded that he would not make "a Gen. Sherman type statement to say: 'If nominated I will not accept, if elected I will not serve.'"

He added: "I doubt whether any American would have the right to make such a statement."

If elected California's governor, he insisted, "I would expect to serve out my term."

But newsmen covering his news conference Wednesday interpreted his "Sherman statement" to mean he would not turn down a presidential nomination.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, also a Californian, knew of his intention to seek the nomination for the governor's chair, Knowland said, but he added he had no advance commitment of Nixon's support.

Nixon, in many quarters, is considered the front-runner for the 1960 GOP nomination for President.

Chambers Bid Apparent Low For Bridge

Chambers Construction Company was the apparent low bidder at $114,800 on the proposed concrete bridge over Dead Man's Run at 33rd and Baldwin.

The bridge would increase the amount of widening and deepening that can be done on the channel, according to Sanitary District Engineer Ralph Marlette.

Also bidding on the project was Dobson Construction Company with a $115,175 proposal.

The city engineer's estimate on the bridge was $116,000.

The City Council will consider the bids received at its regular meeting Monday.

Friends Praise Rayburn At Library Dedication

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—Friends and colleagues, Democrats and Republicans, paid tribute Wednesday to House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Headed by former president Harry Truman, secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson and Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson, they converged on this northeast Texas farm town for the dedication of the $500,000 Rayburn Library.

They heaped praise on Rayburn, the Tennessee-born Texan who has been speaker of the House longer than any other man. Only Truman dropped a remark that had political overtones. He said:

"My friend Sam Rayburn has always been a good Democrat and that's what it takes to be a good citizen."

'Understands His Job'

The former president continued: "It's almost impossible to enumerate the great contributions Sam has made for the good of his nation. I don't think there ever was another man in Washington who understood his job like Sam Rayburn does."

Secretary Anderson, who made the principal dedicatory speech, brought congratulations and best wishes from President Eisenhower.

Referring to the library which will house Rayburn's papers, documents and books, Anderson said: "Our libraries assure us that man has a sense of direction, a lasting, dependable sense we may all safely take as individuals and as a nation, to guide our country."

Rayburn, introduced by Gov. Ernest McFarland of Arizona, said the library was for the people of Texas, Bonham and Fannin County.

"They have," he said, "been so uniformly kindly and fine to me, and have given me a loyalty and love unsurpassed in any annals. I wanted a permanent evidence of appreciation and evidence of my unfailing devotion and love for them.

Johnson said almost the entire Texas congressional delegation was "the speaker's handiwork." He said Rayburn counseled him when he went to Congress "as a young representative with wobbly legs. And if those legs are firmer today, it is because of his guidance."

The library building is a one-story structure of white Georgia marble. In addition to Rayburn's papers, documents and books, it will have 6,000 volumes which include records of every Congress since 1774.

Rayburn made the initial gift to the foundation. It was a check for $10,000 which he received as an award from Collier's magazine for distinguished congressional service. Other gifts made up the difference.

Fannin County school children were especially invited guests to the dedication, attended by about 5,000 persons.

Pentagon Wants To Fire Spy Suspects From Defense Plants

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Pentagon asked Congress Wednesday for authority to fire suspected saboteurs and espionage agents from defense plants.

Defense Department spokesmen urged passage of such legislation as a House unamerican activities subcommittee launched new hearings into Communist infiltration of the communications industry.

Subcommittee counsel Richard Arens said previous hearings have uncovered "two dozen persons identified as Communists who are in communications facilities which process defense messages."

RCA, Western Union

Arens also said "we're aware we have circuits running through the RCA and Western Union headquarters in New York in which it has been alleged there has been Communist infiltration."

A. Tyler Port, director of personnel security for the Pentagon, said the Defense Department lacks authority to fire such individuals although it can remove them from sensitive posts.

He explained that the only way Reds can be removed from vital defense facilities is to invoke detention provisions of the Internal Security Act after the President has declared an internal security emergency.

Bill Was Introduced

Port said Congress should enact a bill introduced in the 84th Congress which would permit the government to bar from defense plants persons whom officials feel may commit sabotage.

At Wednesday's hearing, an official of the American Communications Assn. refused to tell the committee whether Communists are employed by New York and Philadelphia radio stations participating in the Conelrad air raid defense.

William Bender, 40, of New York City, invoked the First and Fifth Amendments on that question.

Kicked Out Of CIO

Bender, vice president of the ACA which was kicked out of the CIO in 1950 because of alleged Communist domination, also declined to say whether he had been a Communist prior to one month ago.

Bender and five New York Western Union employes appearing before the subcommittee were identified recently by Mrs. Concetta Padovani Greenberg as having been onetime members of the Communist Party.

All six witnesses testified they are not now members of the Communist Party but all invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked about past membership.

Stocks End Slightly Up

NEW YORK (AP)—A brisk stock market rally ran out of gas Wednesday but the list managed to close with a slight edge to the upside.

The market stepped ahead smartly early in the session in a generally anticipated technical rebound from three straight sessions of decline.

Trading then moderated but picked-up subsequent to President Eisenhower's statement that the United States would begin launching its own space satellites in December.

Wall Street then had to digest the statement by Neil H. McElroy, the new defense secretary, to the effect that a speed-up in the nation's missile program is being considered but it would not involve a substantial increase in spending.

In neither Eisenhower's or McElroy's statement could investors find much hope for more money being pumped into defense, brokers said.

Most of the better gains by key stocks were trimmed and a considerable number were replaced with net losses. By the close, the range of gains still stretched from fractions to about 2 points. The declines showed around the same spread.

The market remained narrowly ahead on balance with the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 20 cents to $163.70. The industrial component was up 30 cents but the rails reversed an early gain and closed with a loss of 20 cents, bringing them to a low for the year. The utilities were unchanged.

Of 1,137 issues traded gains outnumbered losses by 557 to 344. There were 109 new lows for the year and only two new highs, National Tea and Penick & Ford.

The early trading was enough to put volume at a respectable 2,120,000 compared with Tuesday's 3,190,000, the year's highest.

Among the 15 most active stocks there were 9 gainers, 5 losers and one unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 660,000 shares compared with 1,050,000 Tuesday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Corporate bonds milled inconclusively in moderately active trading Wednesday. Industrials were strong but rails and foreign dollar bonds declined. Utilities and investment quality issues were firm.

U.S. government bonds sifted slightly lower in light transactions over-the-counter.

Convertibles generally were higher. Bethlehem 3¼s were up 1¾. Dow 3s up 1¼. General Dynamics 3½s up 1½, and Northrop 4s up 1⅛.

GRAINS CLOSE STEADY, FIRM

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain markets at Chicago closed mostly steady to firm Wednesday with the exception of the July and September wheat contracts which declined to new lows for the season.

Nearby wheat deliveries advanced as much as 1⅛ cent a bushel on short covering and improved export demand. Losses in the new crop months were attributed to a government report placing wheat impoundings as of Sept. 15 at about 98 million bushels. This is the smallest as of that date since 1948 when the USDA began issuing monthly reports.

New style wheat closed 1⅜ lower to 1⅛ higher, corn ½ to 1 cent higher, oats ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, rye ¼ to ¾ higher, soybeans 1⅛ to 1⅝ higher, and lard ended 10 cents lower to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Oil Swindler's Pen Term Commuted; 65-Year-Old Still Has Federal Term

Howard D. Mitchell, 65-year-old Nebraska Penitentiary inmate, won a commutation of sentence from the State Board of Pardons and Paroles Wednesday — but not his freedom.

Mitchell, who began serving a 12-year term in 1951 on charges he swindled a Hemingford widow out of several thousand dollars in an oil deal, will be turned over to federal authorities on his release.

Mitchell was on parole from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., at the time of his 1951 arrest in western Nebraska. He had served part of a term at Leavenworth for mail fraud and has 1,397 days remaining of his federal term.

Mitchell, listed as from Sidney, was convicted at Alliance on three counts of obtaining money by false pretenses and of being an habitual criminal.

Four penitentiary inmates were granted paroles, the sentence of another was commuted so he could be turned over to immigration authorities, and the sentence of a women's reformatory inmate was commuted in favor of a federal detainer in other board decisions following hearings Wednesday.

The inmates and disposition of cases:

Stanley Runs Above, 27, Mission, S. D., assault to do great bodily injury; sentenced from Cherry County, four years, in 1955; paroled.

Marvin Runs Above, 32, St. Francis, S. D., assault to do great bodily injury; Cherry County, four years, 1955; paroled.

Robert Meyer, 45, Fullerton, Neb.; forgery; Douglas County, five years, 1955; paroled.

John A. Murillo, 28, Mexico; debauching a minor; Morrill County, five years, 1955; commuted to immigration authorities.

Hobart N. Austin, 36, Gordon, Neb.; assault to commit rape; Sheridan County, seven years, 1954; paroled.

Evelyn P. Peters, 52, no home address; obtaining money by false pretenses; Sarpy County, three years, 1955; commuted to federal detainer.

Walkout At Clinton High Fails

CLINTON, Tenn. (INS) — A student walkout at Clinton High School, as a sympathy demonstration for Little Rock High School students, fizzled Wednesday.

The walkout was called for by unsigned printed circulars, distributed at the integrated school Tuesday.

"We too have faced bayonets," the handbills said, calling on Clinton students to "walk out and stay out" at noon Wednesday.

Only three girls left the school at noon, and two of them were speedily returned to class by their mothers. Principal H. D. Human said he sent two white boys home for the day, but did not detail their part in the incident.

Human said the call for the walkout was the "first incident of any kind" since Clinton High School began its second year as an integrated school Sept. 3.

Five Sentenced

Reserve Units To Be Cut

FT. MONROE, Va. (AP)—The Continental Army Command, in a sweeping move affecting all Army reservists, announced Wednesday plans for deactivation of Army reserve units whose strength and standards are below par.

CONARC, which is responsible for all active and reserve training in the United States, said recent reductions in active strength of the Army "Make it imperative that the mobilizaion readiness of the Army Reserve be improved."

CONARC headquarters here said Gen. W. G. Wyman, Continental Army commander, has directed that ineffective units be deactivated and all reserve units undergo "continual qualitative screening to assure that available spaces are filled by the best-motivated officers and enlisted men."

The Army now is in the process of cutting 100,000 men from its active duty rolls as a result of two manpower cutbacks. Of the total, 50,000 must leave by Dec. 31 and the others by next June 30.

Need Exists

The Army's current budget has placed a 300,000 paid-drill limit on its reserve. CONARC headquarters said a need exists to bring into the reserve six-month draftees as well as men returning from active duty who are obligated to take part in reserve training.

At the start of the fiscal year, the Army had 1,389,401 "ready reserves."

A CONARC spokesman said in its attempt to improve quality in the training of reserves, the six commanders of armies making up the Continental Army Command have been instructed to tighten up on drill attendance standards, branch and job qualifications, physical standards and mental aptitude.

Each low-strength reserve unit will be evaluated to determine whether it can be built into an effective unit, CONARC Headquarters said.

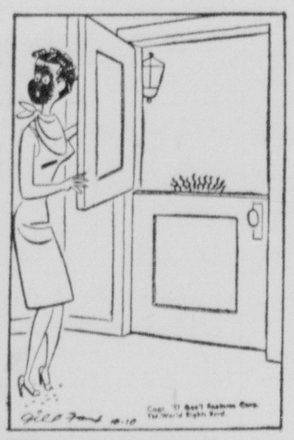

Guilty Plea To Sale To Minor

Alice Blakley of Dorchester, holder of a retail package liquor license, has pleaded guilty to a charge of selling alcoholic beverages to a minor, the State Liquor Control Commission reported.

As a result, a hearing on possible suspension or revocation of license, scheduled for Oct. 17, has been cancelled, the commission said.

Also cancelled was a hearing set for Oct. 15 on suspension or revocation of retail Class C liquor license held by Gertrude Swartz and Marion Jarosik, Omaha. The licensees pleaded guilty to commission charges of selling liquor on credit in violation of regulations.

Wrong Man Buried, $900 Bill Waiting

NEW YORK (AP) — A Queens family that buried the wrong man, and a Connecticut family that hasn't had a chance to bury the right one, are the victims of a bizarre mixup disclosed Wednesday—with a $900 mortician's bill standing between them.

Chief Medical Examiner Milton Helpern told the strange story, but has no more idea how the dispute can be resolved than anyone else.

Last November a man was killed by a bus. A pay slip in his pocket from the Brooklyn Hebrew Home and Hospital led to his identification by hospital workers as Thomas Francis Keegan, a former employe.

Keegan's son, Thomas, verified the identification, although he had not seen his father in nine years.

$900 Cost

"Keegan" was buried in an elaborate Catholic funeral that cost $900. The family planned to pay for it out of an insurance policy.

But sometime after the funeral, Keegan's brother ran into him in a Brooklyn cafe.

Then a fingerprint check showed the buried man actually was another hospital employe, Ernest Fries, 52.

Fries' sons, Ernest and George, both of whom live in Connecticut, wanted to claim the body for a protestant funeral, but the Brooklyn Cemetery refused to open the grave without a deed to the burial plot.

The funeral home in Queens was holding the deed, and declined to give it up until the Keegans paid the $900 bill.

The Keegans feel they shouldn't have to pay for burying the wrong man. They say they haven't the money anyway, since they cannot collect insurance on a man who isn't dead after all.
